Scattered downpours reported

Electrical storm knocks out power in valley areas

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

Many people had their morning routine of getting ready for work or going to school interrupted a little after 7 a.m. today when a brief lightning storm, accompanied by some rain, struck the local area.

According to the weatherman, the storm was caused by tropical moisture moving northeastward from off Baja California coming in contact with high, cold clouds.

Southern California Edison Co. officials at the Pomona and Ontario district offices pinpointed 7:05 a.m. as the time when the power outages began to occur.

Lightning struck a line on Lycoming Road between Lemon Street and Brea Canyon Road in the Walnut area and blacked out power for about 800 customers for half a minute, Charles McDaniel, district manager for the Pomona office reported.

McDaniel said that several lightning strikes about 7:05 a.m. blacked out an area between Mills Avenue and Towne Avenue, and north and south from Harrison Avenue in Claremont, and affected service for about 1,500 customers.

He said that about 600 customers were without power for 30 minutes, with the remainder for more than an hour until crews could restore service.

McDaniel said that the effect of the storm was felt between 6:50 and 7:15 a.m. with various areas receiving a brief downpour, while others received no showers at all.

McDaniel said he drove into a brief downpour at Padua Avenue and Base Line Road that was so strong the car windshield wipers couldn't handle the rain.

McDaniel said that every customer who complained about the power outage received a return phone call to check that the power had been restored.

Dick Verrue, manager of the Ontario district from the San Bernardino County line east to Etiwanda Avenue, reported various lightning strikes in the West End area and resultant power out in homes, businesses, schools and traffic signals.

Verrue said that the Kingsley-Ramona Avenue area appeared the hardest hit.

About 2,000 customers were without power for half an hour in the area north of Phillips Boulevard to the San Bernardino Freeway and west of Central Avenue.

A lightning bolt struck a power pole at Mission Boulevard and Central Avenue, and blacked out an area in Montclair and sections of Pomona.

Numerous traffic signals were out in widely separated areas.

Lightning caused activation of numerous silent alarms in the Alta Loma and Upland areas.

"We received just a few drops in our area," Verrue said.

The weatherman reported that although the temperature may go as high as 80 today, it will top 90 Wednesday.

Major bid to reduce nuclear arsenals

Carter: we'll cut arms 50%, if Soviets do the same

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Carter reported today the United States and the Soviet Union are "within sight of a significant agreement" to limit strategic weapons.

In an address to the United Nations General Assembly, Carter also looked beyond a new SALT accord and declared the United States is "willing now" to reduce its arsenal of nuclear arms "by 10 per cent, by 20 per cent, even by 50 per cent," if the Soviets will do the same.

The President received a standing ovation as he entered the assembly hall, jammed with representatives of all but two of the U.N.'s 149 member nations. Absent were South Africa, which has boycotted General Assembly sessions since 1974, and Albania, which follows an isolated course in world affairs.

During the speech, Carter was interrupted by applause only once, that when he said the United States would never use nuclear weapons except in self-defense.

At the conclusion, he was given a 37-second standing ovation. Among those who withheld any applause was Farouk Kaddoumi of the Palestine Liberation Organization, which has "observer status" at the U.N.

While emphasizing arms control efforts, Carter also discussed the search for a Middle East peace.

"We do not intend to impose from the outside a settlement on the nations of the Middle East," he said. But he added that "the fundamental rights and interests" of Israel and her Arab neighbors must be accepted, and concluded:

"—For Israel, this must mean borders that are recognized and secure.... The commitment of the United States to Israel's security is unquestionable.

"—For the Arabs, the legitimate rights of the Palestinians must be recognized.... How these rights are to be defined and implemented is, of course, for the interested parties to decide in negotiations, and not for us to dictate."

Carter, who will spend two days in New York pursuing both public and private diplomacy, was meeting separately later in the day with Egyptian Foreign Ismail Fahmy and the foreign minister of Israel, Moshe Dayan.

The President, whose two meetings last month with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko gave fresh impetus to arms control negotiations, said on that subject:

"In strategic arms limitation talks, we and the Soviets are within sight of a significant agreement in limiting the total numbers of weapons and in restricting certain categories of weapons of special concern to each of us."

Carter did not elaborate. However, the United States is concerned about the very large missiles in the Soviet arsenal while Moscow has expressed concern about deployment of cruise missiles by the United States.

"If the principles of self-restraint, reciprocity and mutual accomodation of interests are observed," Carter said, "then the United States and the Soviet Union will not only succeed in limiting weapons, but will also create a foundation for better relations in other spheres."

Carter went on to say:

"The United States is willing to go as far as possible, consistent with our security interests, in limiting and reducing our nuclear weapons. On a reciprocal basis we are willing now to reduce them by 10 per cent, by 20 per cent, even by 50 per cent. Then we will work for further reductions to a world truly free of nuclear weapons."

Calling for the completion of negotiations on a comprehensive nuclear test ban, the President asserted:

"My country believes that the time has come to end all explosions of nuclear devices, no matter what their claimed justification — peaceful or military."

Carter also called anew for restrictions on exports of nuclear fuel and technology, while acknowledging that "many do not understand why the United States feels as it does."

Declaring that a score of nations could have nuclear weapons by the year 2000, he contended that nuclear power plants could by that time produce enough plutonium for tens of thousands of bombs annually.

This places on potential exporters solemn obligations, he said, "to meet legitimate energy needs and, in doing so, to ensure that nothing we export contributes — directly or indirectly — to the production of nuclear explosives."

The President also called for restraint in exports of conventional arms. And he suggested the United States and the Soviets "avoid an escalation in military competition in the Indian Ocean."

Turning to southern Africa, he said, "We urge South Africa and other nations to support the proposed solution to the problems in Zimbabwe, and to cooperate still more closely in providing for a smooth and prompt transition in Namibia."

Senate nearing final vote on natural gas as filibuster ends

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a tumultuous, eight-day filibuster now over, the Senate moved today toward conclusive votes on whether to lift federal controls on natural gas prices.

Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said he hoped the Senate would be able to finish its work later in the day on the natural gas question, which has slowed progress of President Carter's energy plan through the Congress.

Although the filibuster is over, both sides continued jockeying for position and a number of votes on various pricing schemes were likely.

One compromise offered by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., would allow for deregulation beginning in 1987, much later than the date urged by Senate Republicans and Democrats from oil states.

After weeks of firmly rejecting all pricing schemes calling for lifting federal controls, White House energy advisers say they will not oppose the Jackson plan, at least in the Senate.

But one oil-state senator, Republican John Tower of Texas, said today the Jackson proposal was not a compromise that would attract votes from stalwart deregulation forces.

Tower indicated that other compromises would be proposed.

The finale to a 13-day legislative deadlock came Monday after Senate leaders enlisted the help of Vice President Walter F. Mondale, who used sharp parliamentary tactics against filibuster leaders.

The two leaders, Democratic Sens. Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio and James Abourezk of South Dakota, called off their filibuster as Jackson was announcing his new compromise proposal to the Senate.

Abourezk and Metzenbaum accused the Carter White House of deserting them in a lonely fight.

"We have had the rug pulled out from under us by the President of the United States," Abourezk said. "We have been led to believe the administration would support us all along."

Throughout the frequently acrimonious impasse, the White House remained publicly silent about the successful maneuvers of Abourezk and Metzenbaum in preventing conclusive votes on deregulation.

While the two senators carried a militant anti-gas industry banner, White House supporters sought a middle ground which would retain controls, but at a price high enough to attract the few votes needed to win.

Two test votes had demonstrated that a deregulation plan sponsored by Sens. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, and James Pearson, R-Kan., would have passed if allowed to come to a vote.

Strike at Boeing

SEATTLE (AP) — The Boeing Co., the world's largest manufacturer of commercial jet passenger planes, has been hit with its first major strike in 12 years.

Picketing began shortly after midnight following a breakdown in negotiations for a contract with the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, which represents 23,800 hourly Boeing employees.

Union officials said the membership voted 87 per cent Monday in favor of a strike, the first against Boeing since a 19-day walkout by the machinists in 1965.

County accepts Morris Dam

The Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors today accepted the Morris Dam from the Metropolitan Water District without discussion.

The only dissenting vote to the free transfer of the seven billion gallon reservoir located 12 miles northwest of Pomona came from Supervisor Baxter Ward.

Ward had objected earlier because he believed it would cost the county $3 million in repairs and improvements to take over the water supply.

Transfer of the dam will enable the county's flood control district to release much of its water supply to the San Gabriel Valley below. It also will make it possible for the district to establish a multi-million dollar water playland in the San Gabriel Mountains.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, chief opponent of the takeover, said the water could be released by the MWD if it wanted to. Moreover, he charged that the refusal of the water district to release the water cost Los Angeles County about two billion gallons a year in runoff to the Pacific Ocean.

However, Hahn dropped his objection today after reports by the county engineer's office that the dam and reservoir were not located on an earthquake fault and they appeared structurally sound even though Morris Dam was built 43 years ago.

The MWD wants to unload the dam because it claims it no longer needs it.

The water district states the dam was built originally for emergency purposes in the event the water supply was curtailed from other sources. Since then the MWD has built other safety measures into its facilities.

Another issue that prevented distribution of the water was the filing of claims by local water organizations as to who had rights to the dam and its water. The MWD contends that the dilemma could best be solved through the takeover of the reservoir by the county.

The takeover is expected to take about a year.

Humphrey responding well to treatments

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey is responding "surprisingly well" to his first three-week series of radiation treatments to control an inoperable malignant tumor, and "the trend is encouraging" a physician friend says.

"The obstructing effect of the tumor is being relieved," Dr. Edgar Berman said Monday. "Internal examination shows very beneficial effects from the X-ray treatments."

David G. Gartner, administrative assistant to the 66-year-old Democratic senator, said in a statement, "Initial indications are that the first series of radiation treatments had a positive effect on the senator's pelvic tumor."

One 300,000-square-foot building

$25 million development proposed for Diamond Bar

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

Plans for a $25 million commercial development in Diamond Bar, involving one 300,000-square-foot building, were revealed today by the Transamerica Corp.

The proposal has been submitted to the subdivision administration division of the Los Angeles County Regional Planning Commission and now awaits revision of an environmental impact report, according to Don Ury, project manager.

The development would be located on 42 acres of land southwest of Golden Springs Road and Grand Avenue, near the Diamond Bar Golf course.

Ury said the project would be built for Country Wide Insurance, a subsidiary of Occidental Life Insurance Co., which in turn is a subsidiary of Transamerica.

It includes leveling part of a hill to build a 15-acre pad. The rest of the land would be reserved for future developments.

Ury said the enormous building — the size of 200 medium size homes — would be divided into office spaces, with priority given to the needs of Transamerica and its subsidiaries. He said no decision has been made about what portion of the space would be offered to the public.

The project also calls for a 500-seat auditorium which would be available both for commercial purposes and community use, and a cafeteria. Two tiers of parking spaces are also included in the plans.

Ury said the project has been delayed because the county insists on certain restrictions as part of environmental protection before granting a zone change needed for the development.

He said the target date for construction is about a year from now.

STILL TRYING TO FLY

Clyde "Daring" Goehring may be 72 but he hasn't given up his dream of building and flying his own bicycle-powered airplane. Goehring, shown here at San Diego County's Palomar Airport, said he isn't concerned that a Pasadena man has already won an $87,500 prize for building the first human-powered craft.

Clyde 'Darling' Goehring

After 14 years of trying he's still intent on flying

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Clyde "Daring" Goehring is too late for the $87,500 prize offered by a British industrialist for the first man-powered flight.

But the 72-year-old San Diego man is undaunted and still insists he'll get his pedal-powered flying machine into the air after putting the finishing touches on it in a hangar at Palomar Airport.

Goehring has been working on his idea for an aluminum airplane built around a tricycle for the last 14 years after setting his sights on the prize offered by industrialist Henry Kremer, payable to the first man-powered plane that could fly a figure-eight course between two pylons a half-mile apart.

The Royal Aeronautics Society of London announced last Friday that Dr. Paul MacCready of Pasadena, Calif., had won the 50,000-pound prize with his Gossamer Condor. Bicycle racer Bryan Allen, 24, successfully piloted MacCready's pedal-powered craft along a test course at the Shafter, Calif., airport Aug. 23.

But Goehring is a congenial loser.

"It's like any race," he said. "You congratulate them and say, 'Well, you did it. There's no hard feeling.'"

"I wouldn't be disappointed," Goehring adds. "I've met so many lovely people from all over the world through this endeavor that the association with those people is worth every bit of time spent."

So, someday within a month or two, the 200-pound Goehring will wheel his $4,000 investment out onto a runway, pedal furiously, and he hopes, soar a few feet into the blue at a sizzling 20 miles an hour.

"There isn't anybody who can pedal this thing as fast as I can."

Kaiser Steel in Fontana pays record $1 million fine

The Kaiser Steel Corp. has given the state Air Resources Board $1 million, the first installment of a record $2.1 million industrial pollution fine.

Tom Quinn, ARB chairman, said the fine was the largest ever collected by a court or antipollution agency. The fine involves the Kaiser steel plant in Fontana.

In accordance with a court agreement, Kaiser was to pay $1 million to the federal government by Oct. 10 and $100,000 to San Bernardino County on a date not yet set.

The firm has also agreed to implement a program to clean up coke oven smoke. This involves $15 million in fixed costs and $2 million in operating costs.

The settlement was reached last May after the federal Environmental Protection Agency threatened to put Kaiser on its "blacklist" of companies ineligible for government contracts.

Such contracts directly or indirectly constitute about half of the company's business.

In a prepared statement, Joe Clark, a spokesman for the Kaiser steel mill, stated, "Kaiser Steel sees the payment of the $1 million settlement to the ARB as part of the formal closing of the dispute which had cast the company and regulatory agencies in the roles of adversaries for clean air.

"In actuality, both have the same goals. Kaiser Steel hopes the settlement funds will aid pollution control research to help upgrade air quality throughout the state.

"The company is continuing to implement the more than $100 million in quality control programs at Fontana to which it is committed under the amended consent decree."

'Race' is the key issue in UC discrimination case

BERKELEY (AP) — The University of California says the Allan Bakke reverse discrimination case should be decided on "whether a state university admissions program may take race into account to remedy the effects of discrimination."

In a legal brief filed with the U.S. Supreme Court Monday, UC said the Constitution does not prohibit "race-conscious" action aimed at "achieving a major public objective."

The Supreme Court will hear arguments Oct. 12 on Bakke's claim he was denied admission to the UC Davis medical school while minority applicants with poorer academic records were admitted.

The brief disputed Bakke's claim that he was refused admission solely because he was white, saying that there are 30 applicants for each position at the school, and Bakke's "credentials were not judged strong enough."

The university also said describing the minority admissions program as a racial "quota" was false.

Crowded Pomona schools discussed

Crowded classrooms in the Pomona Unified School District are expected to be discussed today at 7:30 p.m. when the school board meets in the Education Center.

Representatives of the Associated Pomona Teachers (APT) have indicated they will attend the board meeting to discuss the classroom shortage. They believe the administration has presented an unfair picture of the reasons for the lack of classrooms.

District officials have explained the classroom shortage is the result of the district's contract with the APT which calls for maximum class sizes of 32 students.

Officials have known the maximum class size clause of the contract since it was signed last November.

In other board items, officials expect to name the new principal for the Pomona Adult School and may appoint the fourth cluster head in the administration reorganization.

Trustees are also expected to consider a future home for the Children's Center program and examine a report and proposal for the continuation of the Pilot Project of the Emergency School Aid Act (ESAA) project.

Record Catalina swim: 8½ hours

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sixteen-year-old John York of nearby Manhattan Beach set a new world record early this morning by swimming the Catalina Channel in just 8 hours, 31 minutes and 29 seconds, shattering the old men's record — which he set last year — by nearly 20 minutes.

York's record time also broke the women's record for the lengthy swim, set by Pomona College grad Penny Dean last month with an 8:33:00.

York, who attends Mira Costa High School in Manhattan Beach, began his journey from Marineland at 8:07 p.m. Monday night and arrived at Emerald Beach on Catalina Island more than 8½ hours later, shortly after 4:30 a.m.

York, who broke a 21-year-old record for men when he swam the channel last year, is also trying for an unprecedented double-crossing.

York, who stands 5-feet-7 and weighs 125 pounds, was expected to arrive back at Marineland sometime tonight. If successful, the effort will make the fourth double-crossing ever completed in the world.

An official of the Amateur Athletic Association and a timer were aboard the 65-foot boat which accompanied York on the crossing.

Can't win rights in court say gay leaders

By DENISE M. HOLT
Associated Press Writer

The nation's homosexuals probably will have to go to the Congress to obtain their civil rights, because the courts are too conservative, gay spokesmen in Los Angeles and San Francisco said.

Reactions came Monday from homosexual leaders in the two California communities after the U.S. Supreme Court decided to uphold laws that permit gays to be fired because of their sexual preference.

"It's an unfortunate situation," said Greg Gordon, a spokesman for Gay Radio Collectives in Los Angeles. "Now the gay people can only look to the Congress because they certainly don't have a voice in the Supreme Court."

Morris Kight, of the Los Angeles Gay Community Services Center said, "Obviously we're disappointed. But we also consider it a victory because the court, based on its conservative tendencies, would have rendered a decision against us."

Police chiefs warned about 'Code of silence' dangers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New York City's deputy police commissioner has warned a convention of police chiefs that allowing corrupt officers to remain veiled under a "code of silence" can result in major lawsuits as well as abuse of citizens.

For example, "too often an alcoholic officer's behavior is hidden by a 'buddy system,' Deputy Commissioner Philip R. Michael said Monday.

If the problem habit is not uncovered, he told several hundred chiefs, "you are not only endangering anyone who comes into range of that officer's gun" but paving the way for damage suits if someone is injured.

Michael, who presides over administrative hearings of officers charged with misconduct, said that if a chief is aware of a policeman's drinking problem, "you had better think twice about retaining that officer."

He told the International Association of Police Chiefs, which represents more than 11,000 police departments in the United States and a number of foreign countries, that small departments are not immune from corruption.

In fact, he said, the "code of silence" may be more pervasive in small, tightly knit departments because 'it's hard to turn in a fellow officer but its even more tortuous to turn in a friend."

Another aspect of police discipline was raised by a legal counsel to the San Diego Police Department, who said that confidential personnel records are being increasingly sought by attorneys representing defendants in police cases.

Gene Gordon said that it is a "recent phenomenon" that defense attorneys get court orders seeking personnel files in hopes of finding that the officer previously was disciplined or accused of such infractions as excessive force against a suspect.

He said that some judges are not familiar with police internal affairs departments and thus improperly grant court orders that result in confidential personal information being aired in court.

Gordon said that if personnel files are deemed relevant to the case, they should be examined by the judge in chambers to determine if they need to be made public.

He referred to a recent Los Angeles case in which large numbers of police files were shredded. Because a judge held it was unlawful, he said, scores of cases against people charged with assaulting policemen have been dismissed.

In those cases, he said, judges held that the defendants had been denied due process by destroying files that might have had information about the officer that would have aided their case.

The police chiefs' convention, which runs through Thursday, is expected to draw some 7,000 heads of police departments.

Farmers say 'no' to rain making

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Cloud seeding has been called to a halt in Northern California in the wake of cries from farmers who say rain will damage their crops.

The state Department of Water Resources reported Monday that the program, prompted by the two-year drought, had been scheduled to run from July to Oct. 31.

Officials said natural rainfall from several "winter type" storm fronts that passed over Northern California in September has reduced the need for further seeding.

Rain fell early last Wednesday morning in the Chico-Red Bluff area, where almonds and walnuts were being harvested.

Later the same day when there were strong southerly winds, cloud-seeding flights were flown between Red Bluff and the coast, outside the seeding area allowed by the state contract, officials said.

The department said farmers complained that almond and walnut crops would suffer mold from harvest-time rains and asked the state to postpone more cloud-seeding until harvests are completed.

The seeding was done by aircraft of Weather Modification, Inc., on flights from Red Bluff and Sacramento.

Department spokesman Al Jones said a meteorologist is evaluating reports to determine whether the program was successful.

"On some days when they seeded, it rained, but we don't know if the rain was natural or caused by the seeding," Jones said.

The contract called for paying the firm $97,000, and Jones said there would be negotiations over the amount to be paid for the month of canceled work.

Nursing home employee pay raises denied

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. closed out the 1977 legislative session with the second rejection in three months of a pay raise for nursing home employes.

The Democratic governor reported Monday that he also vetoed bills to allow Los Angeles County to pull out of the Social Security system, and to make it easier for jail inmates to qualify for time off for good behavior.

Brown's yearly score was 1,179 bills signed, 57 allowed to become law without his signature, and 124 vetoes, his office said. Last year he signed 1,368, let 94 become law, and vetoed 185.

Brown said he vetoed the nursing home bill "in light of the uncertainties in the MediCal program and the need to carefully preserve tax dollars for property tax relief."

The Medi-Cal program faces a projected $200 million defict.

The 1,300 nursing homes in the state, with 100,000 patients, have been the target of a state investigation. Some have been accused of poor care and poor conditions.

Nursing home operators blame the Medi-Cal reimbusement rate of $22 to $24 a day, because they say it permits wages of only $2.69 an hour for nurse's aides — too little to attract and keep a high-caliber staff.

Brown earlier cut $15.9 million out of this year's state budget for nursing home raises.

The bill he vetoed, AB 1427 by Assemblyman Lou Papan, D-Daly City, would have cost $10.8 million this fiscal year and $21.6 million next year for raises for non-administrative employes like nurses and aides.

State briefs

Riots modernized police

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The racial-student riots and controversial Supreme Court decisions of the 1960s benefited law enforcement by forcing it to modernize, says outgoing FBI Director Clarence Kelley.

"If I have any regret as I prepare to leave law enforcement, it's that we didn't assume years ago the progressive posture we have today," he told the International Association of Chiefs of Police, meeting here Monday.

Kelley, retiring in January after 37 years in law enforcement, said police "were ill-prepared to deal with widespread civil disobedience" and had to begin "exchanging experiences, knowledge and tested methods ..... pooling resources of technology and expertise."

He said the new professionalism means obeying the rules, even if they are controversial. He cited the Supreme Court's Miranda decision, requiring police to advise suspects of their rights before interrogation.

"What happened was we adapted," said the former Kansas City police chief. "We updated our interview procedures ..... and the net result was more precise police work, with more regard for the individual's constitutional guarantees as they are viewed and interpreted today."

San Diego-Arizona railway

SAN DIEGO (AP) — There may yet be a state-operated San Diego & Arizona Eastern Railway, California Transportation Director Adriana Gianturco says.

Structural engineers will arrive in eight weeks to begin studying the cost of rebuilding portions of the 147-mile line that was washed out in late 1976 by Tropical Storm Kathleen, she said.

Ms. Gianturco, here Monday for a district meeting, said she has advised the Interstate Commerce Commission that the state is interested in the railway.

Federal law requires each state wishing to acquire lines facing abandonment to submit an operating proposal by April, 1978, with a study on the impact and benefits of keeping the line in operation, she said.

Then federal subsidies can be obtained after the government approves the plan, she added.

Southern Pacific Transportation Co., parent firm of the SD&AE Line, is seeking abandonment of the railway, contending it would cost $1.3 million to repair damaged track and washed out roadway.

Civil rights suit

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A civil rights suit seeking $745,000 in damages alleges Imperial County discriminates in job hiring and promotion practices against women, blacks and Mexican-Americans.

The suit, filed Monday in U.S. District Court, names as defendants the county Board of Supervisors and other county officials. The action was filed by the California Rural Assistance League on behalf of eight individuals and six organizations.

The suit seeks back pay of $745,000 for the plaintiffs, and a court injunction to halt the alleged discriminatory practices.

The individuals were deprived of jobs and promotions on the basis of race and sex, according to the suit.

Child killer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A Superior Court judge has "grave misgivings that any treatment would enable" confessed childkiller Robert McFarlane to lead a normal life.

Judge Douglas R. Woodworth made the comment Monday after certifying McFarlane as a mentally disordered sex offender.

McFarlane pleaded guilty Aug. 4 to killing 6-year-old Jose Luis Ramirez. The boy's nude body was found in Golden Hill Park Feb. 9, three days after he disappeared from his San Diego home.

McFarlane could face a life term for the first-degree murder plea when he goes before Superior Court Judge Earl H. Maas Jr. for sentencing Wednesday.

Woodworth noted McFarlane was "twice previously committed to a state hospital after convictions for child molesting. The judge agreed with a county forensic psychiatrist, who described the defendent as a "poor treatment risk."

Alien smuggling law

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Legislation introduced by Rep. Bob Wilson permitting the seizure of vehicles used in alien smuggling has been endorsed by the Justice Department, the California Republican's office says.

The department took the position in a report to Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, Wilson's office reported Monday.

The committee is the major body in the House that considers immigration-related matters.

"The Department of Justice strongly supports the enactment of HR5547," said Asst. Atty. Gen. Patricia Wald in the report. "We believe the bill will help combat alien smuggling operations which often utilize the same vehicle over and over again."

The bill would allow the seizure and forfeiture of any vessel, vehicle or aircraft used to transport any illegal alien into this country, unless the owner of the vehicle can prove that the smuggling was committed by a person who had previously stolen the vehicle.

Federal authorities, particularly the Border Patrol, have long sought the power to seize vehicles used in smuggling aliens in much in the way vehicles used in smuggling narcotics now are subject to confiscation.

MRS. GANDHI ARRESTED

Former Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi is surrounded by supporters, including former Railway Minister Kamalapati Tripathi, right, as police put her under arrest at her New Delhi home. She was later freed by a judge who said there were no grounds to hold her.

But government vows she will go on trial

No grounds to hold her; Indira Gandhi set free

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indira Gandhi was brought to court on corruption charges today after a night in police custody, but Magistrate R. Dayal said there were "no reasonable grounds" for her detention and freed her.

The government said collection of evidence against Mrs. Gandhi would continue and she would be brought to trial. But it gave no indication when the trial might take place, and her sudden arrest and swift release were likely to prove a sizable boost to her attempt at a political comeback.

Police used tear gas and clubs on demonstrators for and against the 59-year-old former prime minister outside the courthouse. Gas fumes drifted into the packed courtroom as competing chants of "Shame, shame, shame, Indira Gandhi" and "Long live Indira Gandhi" drowned out some of the lawyers' arguments.

Mrs. Gandhi rejected an offer of bail when she was arrested Monday night and did not request bail in court. Her lawyer, Frank Anthony, told the magistrate the charges against her were "vague, utterly fatuous, trumped up and political." He charged that her arrest had been ordered personally by Prime Minister Morarji Desai.

Attorneys for the government asked the court to take jurisdiction of Mrs. Gandhi, saying they had brought her before Dayal in accordance with the legal requirement that anyone arrested without a court order be produced in court within 24 hours.

The magistrate ordered her freed with no restrictions on her movements.

Mrs. Gandhi was escorted from the courtroom by her son Sanjay, who also is under investigation, and chanting supporters. Followed by a police car, they drove to her New Delhi home. There she told a cheering crowd her freedom did not matter, the important things were the country and the unheeded grievances of the people.

"Has the government come into power to arrest me or to solve people's problems?" she asked.

Rioting by the rival crowds of several thousand outside the Parliament Street courthouse lasted nearly an hour and brought activity in neighboring offices and banks to a standstill.

Cars, motor scooters and windows were damaged by rocks thrown by the demonstrators.

The police used tear gas and clubs on another crowd of stone-throwing supporters of Mrs. Gandhi outside the home of Prime Minister Desai.

Mrs. Gandhi was charged with conspiring with others to award an oil drilling contract to a French firm that had bid $13.4 million more than an American competitor, and with pressuring firms to provide 104 jeeps for her Congress party's unsuccessful election campaign last spring.

In Paris, the Compagnie Francaise des Petroles today denied that it had been involved in any affair of corruption in India, as alleged by Indian security services.

The company said that it had been given a contract for studies for development of the offshore "Bombay High" oil field near Bombay, but that the contract had been signed in April 1977 by the present government and that there could be no possibility of Mrs. Gandhi benefiting. The company said that its bid was competitive with other firms seeking the contract.

Four of her former cabinet ministers, three industrialists and other former officials and secretaries were arrested in a nationwide sweep by the Central Bureau of Investigation.

Some of them were released on bail, but Mrs. Gandhi chose to spend the night under detention at a police headquarters.

It was her first night in jail in 35 years, since the British imprisoned her and her late husband for independence agitation in 1942. She herself had imprisoned Desai and an estimated 100,000 of her political opponents during the 21 months of emergency dictatorial rule at the end of her 11 years in power.

Three arrested in valley drug raid

Pomona police and agents of the state narcotics bureau arrested three persons on charges of the illegal sale of Phencyclcdine, more commonly called PCP or Angel Dust,

The arrests, in Pomona, Claremont and Montclair, climaxed a four-week investigation conducted by the two agencies, Pomona Detective Lorenzo Zambrano said.

Each suspect was arrested at home. They were Kenneth Earl Houston, 23, of 945 W. Arrow Hwy., Claremont; Leana Mae Evans, 22, of 9367 Pradera Ave., Montclair; and Donald Haggerty, 20, of 1189 Ashfield Ave., Pomona. Zambrano said complaints charging the three with the sale of PCP and conspiracy to sell PCP would be sought from the district attorney.

Authorities charged that during the investigation, each suspect sold PCP to undercover operatives. The officers were issued search warrants prior to the arrests by Pomona Municipal Court Judge Thomas Nuss and by Judge Martin Mildreth of the West Valley Municipal Court.

Zambrano added that during the search of the Ashfield Avenue residence a citizens' band radio was found which had been stolen from a Pomona police officer. Its identification was possible because the officer had engraved his driver's license number on the radio, Zambrano said.

Woman stabbed at fair parking lot

One woman was stabbed and a second woman arrested in an incident at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds late Monday night.

The victim, Rebecca Lynn Bartley, was released after treatment at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. The second woman, Cheryl Lynne Stewart, 21, of Sacramento, was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

The incident occurred on parking lot H near the stable area. Further details of the occurrance were not available immediately.

Nude body identified as Upland woman

The nude, battered body of a woman found lying on the side of Sierra Highway north of Highland Drive in the Fontana area last Wednesday has been tentatively identified as that of Linda Lentz, 33, of Upland, according to the San Bernardino County coroner's office.

Sheriff's deputies investigating the apparent murder said a preliminary autopsy showed that the woman had been severely beaten about the head. Shortly after the woman's body was found Wednesday, deputies blocked off several miles of the Sierra Highway when officers found numerous pieces of jewelry scattered over the road. Investigators said they believe the woman was killed elsewhere and her body dumped on the road.

Chaffey administrative shift inked in closed-door session

The transfers of three principals and two assistant principals to different schools have been approved by trustees of the Chaffey Joint Union High School District.

Following a closed-door executive session Monday night, board members approved the transfer of Alta Loma High School principal Stephen L. Butters to Montclair High School; Upland High principal David Campbell to Alta Loma High; and Montclair principal Dean Smothers to Upland High.

Upland High's assistant principal Dale McKeon will be reassigned to Montclair High; and Montclair High's assistant principal Janet T. Wright will transfer to Upland High.

Supt. Mike Dirksen said the administration had been considering the changes for several months, in view of the "changing needs of the district." He indicated the move was not because of overcrowding problems, however.

"We want to utilize the best talents (of personnel) to provide the climate where the best learning can occur," noted Dirksen.

He praised all of the district's administrators, but added that talents of personnel should be used in relation to particular needs of various schools. "We should provide the best opportunity for school leadership."

Dirksen said there was no "secret motive" involved in the changes, which take effect on Oct. 31.

Jury selection begins

Jury selection began Monday afternoon for the trial of Clarence Laverne Hill, 27, of Pomona accused of raping and killing a Montclair teen-ager, raping her girlfriend and attempting to murder her mother on June 27 in a Montclair apartment.

Sixty-six potential jurors were ushered into the courtroom of Judge Kenneth Ziebarth who will preside over the trial in the West Valley Superior Court. Ironically, the first potential juror dismissed for cause was Joseph Canty, chief deputy district attorney for the West Valley district attorney's office who appointed Mary Fuller as the prosecuting attorney in the trial.

The defendant, Hill, is accused of raping and murdering 15-year-old Audrey Townsend, attacking her mother with a knife, raping her girlfriend and breaking into the apartment of her mother armed with a handgun and a knife.

In the jury selection process, both Mrs. Fuller and defense attorney Ellen Brody will each be entitled to 20 preemptory challenges. The two attorneys told the judge that the trial may last two weeks.

Upland police hunt cyclist in robbery

Upland police are seeking a man who escaped on a motorcycle after robbing the Mobil Service Station at 1212 W. Foothill Blvd. in Upland of a small amount of cash early this morning. Police said the motorcyclist drove into the station about 1 a.m. and told the attendent he had a gun and wanted the cash from the cash box. Although the attendent told officers he saw no weapon, he complied with the robber's demand. The robber rode off at a high rate of speed after grabbing the money. The robber was described as being in his 20s, 5 feet 9, 160 pounds with collar length brown or blond hair. He was wearing a dark blue tanker jacket, Levis and blue tennis shoes. He left on a gray dirt bike.

Trail of 'blood' leads to suspect

An 18-year-old Chino man suffering with cuts of his hands and arms was arrested early this morning by West End Sheriff's deputies investigating a burglary at the Country Store, 4283 Descanso St. in Los Serranos.

Deputies said the store owner called the sheriff's dispatcher about 5:30 a.m. to report a woman had called to tell him she heard glass breaking at the store and saw a man enter. Deputies arrived at the store minutes later and saw a man, his hands and arms covered with blood, walking away from the store.

When deputies found traces of blood on the broken window of the burglarized store the man, identified as Daniel Edward Wedell, 18, of 15538 Country Club Drive, was arrested for investigation of burglary. Deputies said packages of cigarettes and candy bars were taken from the store.

Trial starts for former policeman

The kidnap-murder trial of a former San Gabriel policeman got underway Monday in Los Angeles Superior Court where selection of the jury began.

The defendant is Billy Joe McIlvain, 33, who is charged with the crimes in the shooting Feb. 28 of David Dominguez, 18-year-old reputed San Gabriel youth gang member. The trial is being conducted in the courtroom of Judge William B. Keens.

McIlvain, who reportedly was wounded in a youth gang ambush last year, was arrested after West Covina police became suspicious of his story that Dominguez had kidnaped him and held him prisoner in the McIlvain home before McIlvain was able to reach a hidden pistol and shoot Dominguez.

Testimony at the preliminary hearing in Citrus Municipal Court, West Covina, later revealed that Dominguez had been shot with a heavy-caliber revolver and a shotgun.

McIlvain had been on the police department for eight years before his retirement. The trial, originally scheduled for Pomona Superior Court, was transferred because of its expected length — five weeks to 2½ months.

McIlvain is free on $25,000 bail.

Pomonan hurt in collision

Jorge P. Soler, 45, of Pomona, was injured slightly Monday morning when his car was involved in a two-car collision at Mission Boulevard and Palomares Street which also damaged Der Weinerschnitzel at 520 E. Mission Blvd.

Soler was released after treatment at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. The other driver, Carol Ann Lowman, 20, of Downey, was unhurt.

Police reported that Soler's car hit the building after the collision, damaging a planter and roof support beam.

Upland man struck by car

A 56-year-old Upland man was seriously injured Monday night when struck by a car while crossing Foothill Boulevard near Benson Avenue in Upland, police reported.

Edwin MacArthur Burns of 1632 W. Foothill Blvd., may have suffered multiple fractures of the legs and knees. He was listed in serious condition at San Bernardino County Hospital.

Police said Burns apparently walked in front of a car driven by Eric James Shippam, 27, of Fullerton who was westbound on Foothill Boulevard from Benson Avenue. The impact knocked Burns onto the hood of the car. He was carried nearly 57 feet before falling to the pavement.

Upland man suspect in store burglary

A 25-year-old Upland man was booked in West End jail this morning by Ontario police investigating the burglary of the Ontario Adult Book Store at 661 E. Holt Blvd. in Ontario.

Arrested for investigation of burglary was Randy Anderson, 25, of 1700 W. Foothill Blvd., police said. Officers said a silent alarm at the adult book store was tripped about 3:30 a.m., bringing police to the location.

As officers approached the store, a man came around the corner with a screwdriver in his back pocket. The man was held at gunpoint until officers could determine if the the store had been burglarized. Officers said that a small bathroom window had been broken at the rear of the store. Just under the window were a pile of adult books and magazines, apparently taken from the racks inside, said officers.

Algerian officials mum about fate of hijackers

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — Algerian officials declined to say today what will be done with the five Japanese guerrillas who brought a hijacked airliner here Monday, to the six comrades they had released from Japanese prisons, and to the $6 million ransom the hijackers obtained.

Japanese Deputy Minister of Transport Hajime Ishi, who officially thanked the Algerian government for its help in resolving the hijack without loss of life, told reporters he "did not have the slightest idea" what had happened to the hijackers and added: "If you find out, please tell me."

The last group of hostages left for Tokyo aboard a relief Japan Airlines DC8 bound for Damascus and Kuwait to pick up other hostages released there and take them to Tokyo.

The hijacked airliner, also a DC8, which was seized over India by Japanese Red Army terrorists last Wednesday was expected to leave later in the day.

Ishi told an airport news conference a search of the plane showed it was "apparently not booby trapped" and that it would leave after a final check.

Ishi said that while not speaking for the government, he "felt personally that we have asked the Algerian government for so much in this affair, we may not be in a position" to ask for the extradition of the prisoners or the return of the ransom.

Observers speculated that Algeria would return the ransom money to Japan in the near future, but following past practice, would secretly expell the terrorists to a country of their choice. It was not clear, however, where they might be accepted.

The terrorists freed their last 12 hostage passengers and seven crew members about two hours after the plane landed in Algiers Monday at the end of a 5,000-mile journey. They then walked out of the plane with their hands over their heads.

Off-duty deputy killed in crash

An off-duty Los Angeles County deputy sheriff was killed Monday when his car struck a pole along the San Bernardino Freeway in the West Covina area, highway patrolmen reported.

The victim, Lynn L. Lewis, 35, who lived in Covina with his wife and two small children, was eastbound at Lark Ellen Avenue when his auto drifted to the right, investigators said. The car first struck a guard rail and then slammed into the pole.

Lewis, who had been with the sheriff's department for six years, was assigned to the station in Lynwood.

Bodies of Presley, mother transferred

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The bodies of Elvis Presley and his mother were transferred Sunday evening from the mausoleum at Forest Hill Cemetery to the Presley estate, Graceland mansion.

No announcement was made of the transfer, which was approved by city zoning officials Wednesday Although security was tight, there were about 100 persons at the mansion's side gate when the two white hearses containing the copper coffins arrived

Court orders stall medicaid withholding

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least 10 of 22 states faced with a threatened withholding of $241 million in federal Medicaid funds have court orders to delay the action.

But the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said Monday that states not winning court intervention still face the possibility of having the money withheld on Thursday.

The original cutoff date was Oct. 1, but HEW said over the weekend that withholding would not begin until Oct. 6.

HEW officials say they are obligated by a strict interpretation of the law to reduce federal matching funds for long-term care in nursing homes to states that failed to conduct annual reviews of facilities serving Medicaid recipients.

U.S. District Judge Barrington D. Parker on Friday issued a preliminary injunction barring the cutoffs for five states. Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Michigan argued that the law did not have to be interpreted so it required the cutoffs.

Raising similar arguments, California, Tennessee, North Carolina, Montana and Ohio won temporary restraining orders in federal court to forestall cutoffs while the courts consider more permanent injunctions.

An HEW spokeswoman said the department was unaware of how many other states, if any, had gone to court and how the cases might have been resolved.

Congress passed emergency legislation in July to forestall cutoffs to 20 states until after Sept. 30, hoping by then to change the law under which HEW acted. Proposed changes passed the House last week and are now before a House-Senate conference committee, which must resolve differences between bills passed by both houses.

Although passage before the Thursday cutoff is unlikely, an HEW spokesman said, "the expectation within the department is that the legislation has a good chance of passage before adjournment of this session (set for Nov. 1)."

The government pays states quarterly for estimated Medicaid nursing home costs. After a quarterly accounting, HEW sends adjustment funds to make up the difference between actual costs and funds previously paid.

The agency is threatening to withhold these adjustment funds.

When HEW threatened to cut off $134.2 million for the first three months of 1977, due to be paid July 1, several states got court orders to block the move before Congress passed its temporary relief.

This first quarter money was paid, but would have to be refunded to HEW if states lose their court cases or Congress fails to act.

Meanwhile, a second group of states, including many from the first group, faced a second quarter withholding of $106.8 million, originally due to be paid Oct. 1.

States facing fund cutoffs for the first quarter are Alaska, California, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Wisconsin. Indiana was removed from this list when it subsequently met HEW requirements.

Alabama, California, Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Tennessee and Wisconsin face second-quarter withholdings.

FAILS TO QUALIFY — Thomas Drake watches as plastic drum filled with lottery tickets is turned in Harrisburg, Pa., before selection of 86th person to qualify for the next millionaire drawing. Drake and his wife spent their life savings on lottery tickets but failed to qualify for the grand stakes.

Spend savings on chance to be millionaires

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Tom and Philomena Drake, who quit their jobs and sold their car and other valuables to buy lottery tickets, have one last, and remote, chance of becoming lottery millionaires.

Their dream of winning the Pennsylvania Millionaire Lottery dimmed Monday, when none of their 1,203 tickets was picked from a barrel containing 40,000 tickets.

Another finalist drawing will be held later, using 40,000 tickets drawn randomly from 87 previous drawings. The Drakes could have from zero to 1,203 tickets in that batch.

"We accomplished what we set out to do," says Drake, 30, a real estate broker who plans to resume selling soon. "We wanted to improve my wife's health, improve our jobs, and spend more time together."

A smiling Drake told reporters he's considering buying a computer to beat the odds in the next million-dollar lottery game that begins Oct. 25.

Lottery officials were skeptical about Drake's idea to use a computer. Conrad Stauffer, deputy executive director of the state Bureau of Lotteries, just chuckled.

"Don't you think with all this national publicity, his real estate business will be helped?" he asked.

The Drakes' attack on the lottery hasn't been a total loss.

They've won over $15,000 in instant cash prizes, but more than $2,000 was eaten up by taxes. The Drakes spent $14,100 in buying 16,000 lottery tickets.

Good Housekeeping magazine says the Drakes will write an account of their experiences as lottery golddiggers.

An NBC producer supposedly has offered to make a television movie about the Drakes, giving them bit parts in it. The offer could not be confirmed.

"The publicity helped, but publicity was not what we set out to do," Drake, 30, told reporters.

Officer saves girl from fire

AZUSA (AP) — An Azusa city policeman was credited with saving the life of a 17-year-old girl when he carried her from her burning apartment here, authorities reported.

Fire officials said Harold Linden, 35, spotted the fire Monday while on patrol and forced open the door to the girl's apartment, where he found Juanita Padilla unconscious. He carried her to safety and also rescued her father, Gonzolo.

The girl was listed in satisfactory condition at County-USC Medical Center. Cause of the blaze was not known.

Thief loots antique shop

GLENDALE (AP)— About $50,000 worth of antique jewelry and World War II vintage guns were stolen from an antique gallery, authorities reported.

Police said the thief apparently entered through the rear door of the Constantine Gallery sometime before the store opened Monday, disconnected the burglar alarm and looted the shop.

20 years of space junk flying around

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Twenty years ago today the Soviet Union hurled a 185-pound aluminum ball into space, and mankind's first satellite orbited the Earth.

It stayed there three months before being pulled back into the Earth's atmosphere.

Now, there are 4,472 objects in space large enough to be detected and tracked.

The North American Air Defense Command estimates that figure could climb to more than 19,000 by the start of the next century. The command keeps tabs on what amounts to a man-made traffic jam circling in space.

Since Sputnik 1 was launched, more than 10,000 space objects — instrumented payloads, rocket motors and debris fragments — have been detected and catalogued by observers at the command's underground Space Defense Center in Cheyenne Mountain, west of Colorado Springs.

Included in the count are the 4,472 objects still out there and another 5,906 that have "deorbited," or disintegrated after coming back into the Earth's atmosphere.

Analysts at the air defense command's headquarters estimate the number of objects in space that they can detect and track will reach 19,661 by Oct. 4, 1997.

The prediction is based on anticipated growth in the space population resulting from new launches, as well as on improvements to the detection and tracking network that will allow it to see and catalog smaller objects than has previously been possible.

The number of space objects climbs not only when new ones are launched but also when objects break into pieces in space.

Most objects now in space are debris. Of the total there now, only 971 are payloads — many of them no longer working.

There is a need to keep track of as many objects as possible, scientists say, because of the possibility, however remote, of in-space collisions.

THE END — After Nov. 13, hillbilly comic strip character Li'l Abner will disappear from the American scene because his creator, Al Capp, is retiring at the age of 68. This recent section of the strip, from the Chicago Tribune-New York News Syndicate, shows the fictional American institution and his wife, Daisy Mae.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED APPEAL OF A CONDITIONAL USE PERMIT

The City Council of the City of Pomona does hereby declare and give notice that a public hearing will be held on October 10, 1977 in the City Hall Council Chambers, 505 South Garey Avenue, at 8:00 p.m. regarding an appeal of a decision of the Planning Commission denying a Conditional Use Permit to develop a Children's Day Care Nursery in an R-4, Multiple Family Residential zone on property situated on the west side of Weber St. between Laurel Ave. and Orange Grove Ave., described as Lot 2, Blk. G, Currier Tract (L. A. Co. Rec. M.R. 14-25) and addressed 751 Weber Street, Pomona, Calif.

All persons interested in or having objection to this proposal may appear as indicated above and/or review the data, including detailed locational information, on file at the planning department office, 505 South Garey Avenue, Pomona, California.

C. Allen Braswell is the applicant and appellant for Braswell Enterprises, Inc.

Workshops introduce youths to the arts

Mt. San Antonio College will again offer the Lively Arts Junior Workshops to introduce youngsters from 5 to 14 years old to the visual and performing arts.

"Adventures in Seeing," "Drama and Theatrical Productions," and "Theatre Games" will give children the chance not only to learn about but also to experience art and drama.

Registrations are being accepted in the Community Services office. Fees are $20 per student for each workshop. Applications should include the child's and parent's names, addresses, phone number and class title. The fee check should be made payable to Mt. San Antonio College.

"Adventures in Seeing" is designed for 9 and 10 year olds as an introduction to the visual arts. Six sessions will meet Wednesdays from 4 to 5:30 p.m. from Oct. 5 to Nov. 23 in the college's Art Gallery. Two Saturday field trips, one to the Los Angeles County Museum of Art and one to the Huntington Library, will also be available to the students. Enrollment is limited to 10 children.

Drama and theatrical productions includes makeup, costuming and staging. Open to youngsters from 8 to 14 years old, the workshop will meet for eight sessions on Saturdays, Oct. 8 to Nov. 19, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Art Building 1A, room 4.

Children from 5 to 7 years old may enroll in "Theatre Games." This group of eight sessions will meet on the same Saturdays from 9 to 11 a.m. Registration for both the productions and the games workshops are limited to 15 students.

Information on the workshops and other events and activities for school-aged children may be obtained by calling the Community Services Office, ext. 361, Mondays through Fridays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Teachers support arbitration

The California Teachers Association (CTA) "officially and strongly" supports binding arbitration to resolve employer-employee disputes, CTA President Steve Edwards said this week in Claremont.

Edwards spoke at the CTA Service Center One fall leadership conference held at Griswold's.

"It would be unfortunate if anyone thought we were not completely committed to the principle of binding arbitration," Edwards continued.

He referred to a statement made by Sen. Ruben S. Ayala, D-32nd Dist., Chino, in a Progress Bulletin story on Tuesday in which Ayala claimed wide labor support, including a letter from the CTA.

Edwards claimed the article left the impression that a letter of support to Ayala may be interpreted as indicating a position of opposition to binding arbitration, a position Ayala has taken.

"The CTA officially and strongly supports binding arbitration in school district employer-employe relations," Edwards stressed.

The president of the 155,000-member association emphasized the "vital importance of neutral, third-party resolution of otherwise insoluble differences between school district management and instructional staff.

"Festering, dangerous frustrations can be alleviated when everyone knows the decision process is completely impartial.

"That is why binding arbitration is vital. And that is why we are so completely committed to it," said Edwards.

Chaffey presents law series

A series of four meetings titled, "You and the Law," will be presented by the Western San Bernardino County Bar Association in conjunction with the Chaffey Adult School.

The series will begin Thursday and continue for four consecutive Thursdays in the math-science building, room 117, located on the Chaffey High School campus, Ontario. It will feature presentations by West End attorneys who specialize in the topics they present. Each program will start at 7:30 p.m.

All presentations are open to the public as a community service. Admission is by ticket and they may be obtained free at the adult school office located on Fifth Street on the Chaffey High School campus, or by calling 983-2010. Tickets will also be available at the door.

The topics include:

—Thursday, "Family Law, Dissolution, Property Division Custody Support."

—Oct. 13, "Contract Law and Consumer Protection Laws."

—Oct. 20, "Personal Injury and Compensation Laws."

—Oct. 27, "Wills and Estates, Probate Law, (How to save taxes and provide for your family after death)."

For further information, persons may call Chaffey Adult School, 983-2010.

Inner earth

The nature of the earth's interior is now known only from indirect evidence collected from studies of rocks and minerals, seismic waves, heat flow from the interior, the earth's magnetic field and gravity, and through comparisons of the earth with other planets, meteorites, the sun and other stars.

OCTOBER SKY — The night sky as it appears in October will be discussed at free shows at 7 p.m. on Thursdays this month at Citrus College Planetarium. Also included will be information on optical and radio telescopes. To use the map, hold directly overhead.

Telescopes highlighted

Two instruments used extensively in the study of astronomy, optical and radio telescopes, will be highlighted in four Thursday shows at Citrus College Planetarium during October.

The indetical programs, free and open to the public, will be held at 7 p.m. on Oct. 6, 13, 20 and 27 in the Schlesinger Planetarium which is located in the northeast section of the campus. Programs last about one hour.

Included in the October show, the first in a two-part series on instruments of astronomy, will be movies and still pictures of the telescopes showing their use throughout the world.

The second part of the series, on the spectroscope and its related instruments, will be held in November.

Citrus College Astronomy instructor Kent Miller will present the programs.

For additional information, persons may call Citrus College at 599-8339.

Hammering

To use a hammer safely, strike square blows and avoid glancing hits which can increase the likelihood of the hammer face chipping, advises the Hand Tools Institute.

Claremont Garden Club will meet

The October meeting of the Claremont Garden Club will be held Wednesday at the Rancho Santa Ana Botanic Garden, 1500 N. College Ave., Claremont.

This month's meeting will feature an illustrated talk by Beatrice E. Richardson, Professor Emertis, Scripps College who will present "The Land, What Grows and Dwells Therein," a journey through Mexico and Peru.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

San Bernardino County plan

Sheriff's deputies added to regular patrol forces

By BOB SWETNAM
PB Staff Writer

More sheriff's deputies in San Bernardino County may soon be assigned to field duties.

Sheriff Frank Bland Monday presented to the county Board of Supervisors a plan that calls for a major reorganization and reassignment of non-patrol officers to field duties within the next six months.

This will involve many deputies now assigned as court bailiffs, jail duty officers, and communications dispatchers. Civilian employees are expected to be hired to replace these deputies in many traditional deputy positions.

Supervisors adopted the sheriff's plan in principle and authorized him to proceed with plans to implement it. But they will still work during the coming months to refine and amend it, they said.

The preliminary plan calls for reassignment of 20 to 40 deputies — now serving in non-patrol functions — to areas in the county that have high crime rates or presently understaffed.

Many of the deputies will be reassigned to serve residents in the West End, particularly Fontana and the tri-communities of Alta Loma, Cucamonga and Etiwanda.

Forty-two civilians will then be trained as special officers to perform court, jail, dispatch and other duties normally staffed by regular officers.

"By hiring 42 civilians and placing deputies in the field, a cost efficiency savings would be realized," Bland reported to the board.

He said that salary differences between regular officers and limited-duty employees will result in a saving of $278,000 for the remaining 1977-78 fiscal year if the program is started by January. In following years, he said, even bigger savings could be realized.

The greatly expanded police service in the county, however, will cost taxpayers nearly $400,000 this year, Bland explained.

Earlier Monday, residents from Hesperia had asked the supervisors for more police officers in their area. They complained of lengthy waiting times between the time crimes are first reported to when deputies finally arrive on the scene.

Lengthy waiting times for police service are caused primarily by a lack of manpower in the field, Bland explained.

The new reorganization plan would allow for extra patrol officers in many areas of the county, he said.

Bland's proposal recommended the reassignment of the 40 sworn deputies to the following areas: Fontana, 10 deputies; West End, four deputies; Victorville, five deputies; Wrightwood, two deputies; Lucerne Valley, two deputies; Barstow, five deputies; Baker, one deputy; Twentynine Palms, two deputies; Central Sheriff's station, three deputies; Big Bear, one deputy; and Twin Peaks, one deputy and an additional radio dispatcher.

Civilian employes hired to replace the reassigned deputies would be partially trained as law enforcement officers. Court bailiffs, for example, would be allowed to carry firearms, make arrests and protect people in court. Off duty, however, they would not have police powers.

Two local supervisors, Robert Townsend of Chino and Joseph Kamansky of Upland, supported the reorganization concept.

Kamansky, who represents residents in the tri-communities and other unincorporated areas where population growth and crime rates have sharply increased during recent years, lauded Bland's proposal.

"My area is growing fast and officers are getting shot at out there almost weekly," Kamansky said. "We have to address some of the crime problems in the county now."

Bland told the board additional patrol deputies do lower the crime rate. He cited the recent hiring of 10 new deputies in the West End as an example.

"We've had 600 less felonies in the West End because we put 10 deputies down there," he said.

Annexation petition stirs Montclair controversy

By MAE TATE
PB Staff Writer

An annexation request from residents within the old Narod area into the City of Montclair stimulated a flurry of controversy and confusion during Monday night's City Council meeting.

Despite a verified petition with 51 per cent of the property owners in a 20-acre parcel, a handful of opponents gathered at a public hearing about annexation initiation to complain about speculatively high increases in taxes and question the need to annex into the city in order to gain sewage service from the city.

Mrs. Nancy Gulizia and her daughter, Diane, 20-year residents of the unincorporated area within Montclair's zone of influence, explained their motivation for circulating petitions for annexation. The proposed annexation area is bordered by Grand Avenue, Philadelphia Street, the north side of Norton Avenue and Ramona Avenue.

Both women said the area is presently operating on septic tanks or cesspools, and that hookup to the Montclair sewage system was the principal reason for seeking annexation. The residents signing the petition supporting annexation were told they must bear the cost of lateral line construction for channeling sewage from their homes to the treatment plant and for connecting into the system.

Planning assistant Rosalie Staudenmayer and City Administrator Lauren Wasserman explained the city has used its sewage allocation to Chino Basin Municipal Water District (CBMWD) for this fiscal year, but anticipated a new allocation by July 1978. Mrs. Staudenmayer estimated annexation would take four to six months.

Melvin Hofstader of 11366 Norton Ave. was the most vocal of the opponents during the lengthy hearing. He questioned the legitimacy of the residents signing the petition, charging they weren't property owners or registered voters; claimed city sewage service was possible without annexation; quoted the county assessor as saying that his property taxes would increase $400 a year; and said that he had letters from various county supervisors and a state senator verifying his claims.

Wasserman explained that county and school taxes would be unchanged with annexation, but the $1.04 for fire services from the Montclair Fire District would be eliminated. In place of that $1.04, however, residents would pay a tax of $1.74 per $100 assessed valuation for all city services, including fire, police, street sweeping and maintenance, building, planning and administrative services and other incidentals afforded present Montclair citizens.

In response to several unflattering remarks about the city involvement in the petition, Wasserman said "We had no control over that petition. We didn't initiate the petition. City staff is not authorized to do more than assist when requested."

Most of the concerns stemmed from uncertainties about the financial aspects of annexation. Property taxes were a major issue, taking second only to questions about the cost of sewage hookup and lateral line construction.

City Engineer Carl Sawtell explained that the last annexation involving sewage system connection charges cost $1,300 per unit. The total cost is financed over a 10-year period. Sawtell said inflation and other factors made it impossible to accurately predict the cost on the new proposal without seeing the properties involved.

City Atty. Eugene Demchuk explained the initiation hearing is merely a Montclair City Council policy and a special request of the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFC), not part of the government code.

"The council is merely getting a feeling of how people in the area think," Demchuk said. He added that after annexation proceedings begin, workshops and public hearings are scheduled, petitions circulated and the election set and held.

Councilman Paul Jones said, "I hear questions to the council to why we should support this? Why are we doing this to you? The City of Montclair is not imposing anything upon the people of your area. This is being initiated by the residents of that area, not the Montclair City Council."

The council will forward the request to LAFC and ask the county for a share of its sewage allocation since this is an annexation.

LUTE MAKER

David Dart of Claremont examines a partially completed lute in his garage workshop. The triangular hand-built harp on the table is a psaltery.

Claremont artist is reviving medieval musical instrument

By CONRAD CASLER
PB Staff Writer

David Dart is a luthier.

So what? some may ask if they are not familiar with the term.

A luthier, to the uninitiated, is one who designs and constructs lutes. A lute is a stringed instrument which vaguely resembles a guitar.

Lutes enjoyed popularity when balladiers roamed in balloon-shaped shorts and long, silk stockings from castle to castle, singing the latest news.

The lutes' popularity waned somewhat when more efficient, yet less lyrical, methods were found to transmit news.

So the lute was relegated to the scrap-heap along with buggy whips and chariots. Only a handful of Medieval history professors gathered periodically in music building practice rooms to play Elizabethan fugues on lutes and recorders, faintly preserving an almost extinct musical art.

But a revival of sorts is now underway, according to Dart who also constructs Medieval fiddles, hurdy-gurdies, Gothic harps, recorders and American dulcimers.

Dart, a Claremont resident, said he fell into his art shortly after graduating from Claremont High School in 1966. He was then hired to repair guitars at a folk music store in Claremont.

He had studied guitars since he was a fifth grader and had been fascinated with woodworking. His father is a physicist and instilled in him a sense of the natural sciences, he said.

Dart mastered the repair trade and began working in the design and construction of musical instruments. But like many others in the late 1960s and early 1970s, he began looking for a deeper meaning of life and settled for four years in Washington where he lived a semi-communal, self-sufficient life.

Married by this time, he ventured back to Claremont occasionally — renewing his instrument desigh and construction trade each time.

Finally in 1974, he returned to Claremont permanently and became a full-time luthier.

His cramped garage shop is a model of efficiency, laced with modern tools as well as archaic ones almost as beautiful as the instruments which come to life under his fingers.

Many of the tools are fashioned by Dart. The workshop is sealed and kept at a constant temperature and humidity to keep the rosewood, maple, walnut, oak, spruce and other materials at just the right woodworking condition. "When wood ages, it learns what it's doing," he said.

Dart said a well-made lute will take him a month to complete, which hardly fits into the mass production range. The cost for one of his lutes is slightly more than $1,000.

What's his market? Dart said musicians are mostly interested in reviving Medieval music, with a renaissance blossoming now.

At present, there are two lute societies — one in England and the second in the U.S. Dart belongs to a U. S. chapter in Los Angeles.

Many graduating students studying music are buying lutes, and some classical guitarists have purchased them and are using them in performances, he added.

Many people are feeling a need for creativity in the modern, computerized society which has helped the lute renaissance, both in performing arts and the artists-artisans who make lutes, said Dart.

The biggest problem facing a lute maker is the almost total absence of plans. Dart said he spends time sifting through Medieval pictures in libraries examining old woodcuts and paintings of lutes to perfect his art even more.

He never copies pictures, but gets ideas from research, said Dart.

Smelly fruit makes a rotten neighborhood—Upland council

Smelly rotten oranges and noisy trucks and machinery prompted Upland city councilmen to threaten one of the city's oldest businesses to "shut down or shape up."

Strongest edicts aimed at Euclid Avenue Orange Association Monday night came from councilmen Harold Bailin and John McCarthy who urged the city staff to come up with noise, air, stench and visual abatement recommendations by next council meeting in two weeks.

"They should shut down if they don't shape up," Bailin said of the plant located on Euclid Place just off Euclid Avenue.

Irate action came after several citizens, headed by retired Primo Valle, cited scores of alleged nuisances created by the orange packing house which has operated more than 50 years in Upland and, as Bailin described, "is part of our heritage."

In other action:

—Councilmen warned of escalating energy costs which could boost the city's $1 million plus annual utility bills up 10 to 15 percent.

Figures were cited indicating West End bus service will have to be eliminated, curtailed somewhat or new funding obtained from federal and state sources.

Valle led his group of Euclid Place protestors in a minutely detailed presentation backed up by tape recordings of noise, slides and diagrams of the packing house alleging visual pollution, pictures of trucks polluting neighborhood air and sealed jars of spoiled oranges allegedly left in open trash bins emitting foul odors.

E.C. Hernandez who lives next to the packing house said his father's fence was knocked down twice by 30-foot high stacks of packing boxes and one fell 30 feet into the yard, narrowly missing his father on another occasion. He also complained of odoriferous spoiled orange juice washed into gutters in front of his home.

City officials said packing house executives were invited to the meeting, but none appeared Monday night.

Mayor George Gibson complimented Valle on his presentation. "It's one of the best citizen presentations I've ever heard," Gibson said.

Noise restrictions studied in Pomona

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

Should the city of Pomona have a noise ordinance? Who would administer such an ordinance?

Those questions were among some asked Monday night as the Pomona City Council at a study session discussed the neighborhood noise problems.

City Atty. Patrick Sampson had submitted a model community noise control ordinance to the council after Councilman Adrian Wright had suggested that such an ordinance be drafted.

Such an ordinance would be effective provided that a city enforces it, Sampson said.

He explained that the thrust of the ordinance is to make a violation depend upon an increased decibel level over the ambient noise level of the neighborhood.

"We want to make neighborhoods liveable for all people," Wright said. "We need an enforcement officer."

Planning Director Sanford Sorenson said that usually the noise problems occur at night, and that the city needs someone working those kinds of hours.

"But we're not making a recommendation at this time on who would enforce it," he said. "The officer who would enforce it should have zoning or an environmental background."

He estimated the city would need startup costs of $6,000 to $8,000.

He said that the ambient noise levels of all neighborhoods throughout the city would be determined.

Councilman Benjamin Ochoa said that the city needs something "with teeth" in it.

Sorenson explained that vehicular noise would not be covered by such an ordinance because it would be pre-empted by state law.

"The people of Pomona are asking that something be done," Wright said. "It's time we had an effective way to control noise."

Sampson said that such an ordinance would not be effective against a transitory type of noise, such as a beer party.

"It would be better for a police officer to go to a beer party," he said.

City Administrator Jerrold Gonce suggested that maybe the city should combine many of its inspection services.

A resident, John Sullivan, said that when people talk about noise, "we are opening up a technical can of worms."

Rodgar Taylor, chairman of the city's Manpower Advisory Commission, said that with a noise ordinance, "You're trying to legislate behavior. It's hard to put boundaries on noise. It will become an issue."

Several other people said that a noise ordinance would be unworkable.

J. Romo suggested that the city should have an enforcement officer not afraid to work at night, and that such an officer could be hired with CETA funds.

Testimony continues in San Dimas 'fly' case

Special Judge Howard E. Jones today continued to hear testimony in a criminal fly abatement case which attacks the constitutionality of Los Angeles County's anti-fly ordinance.

Challenging the ordinance is San Dimas egg rancher Neil Sheehan who was cited three months ago for breeding and harboring flies on his property located at the intersection of Ghent and Oakway avenues.

Through his attorney, Victor Tessier, Sheehan claims the ordinance administered by the county Health Department is vague and does not specify how many flies are too many. The ordinance states simply that no one shall harbor or breed flies.

Sheehan has a San Dimas zoning variance which allows him to maintain his more than 20,000 laying hens in an agricultural zone which permits five horses per acre, three dogs or cats or a combination thereof, a goat, a certain number of beef cattle, one buck and one doe rabbits, 20 laying hens and 100 homing pigeons.

Following a brief outline of the case by Tessier and Assistant Dist. Atty. Cliff Garrott, Tessier placed William C. McKeen, a University of California poultry expert on the stand to explain new methods of fly control devised by his department which utilize natural enemies of flies plus some insecticides to alleviate fly problems.

One of the problems, according to the defense Tessier is developing, is the UC program introduces natural enemies into chicken droppings where they attack fly larva (maggots). These include predator beetles and wasps as well as parasitic enemies of fly larvae in guano piles.

McKeen testified that to work properly, the program must at all times maintain at least a small amount of chicken droppings to allow housefly natural enemies a breeding ground.

But, according to Sheehan who is attempting to stem pest breeding in this manner, county health inspectors have ordered him to remove all guano on several occasions. This takes the flies natural enemies away as well as the flies, he said.

Constitutionality is being attacked since violation of the ordinance carries a maximum fine of $500 or six months in county jail or both. One courthouse attorney said the ordinance has a good possibility of being declared unconstitutional since it is vague and lacks specifics and subjects citizens to jail without specific grounds.

For Judge Jones to rule on that issue should not take more than another day. But if he rules the ordinance is valid, the trial could last up to six weeks.

Blood pressure testing offered

The Claremont Red Cross will conduct a free blood pressure testing clinic Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the headquarters, 2065 N. Indian Hill Blvd.

The Red Cross chapter offers the clinic on the first Wednesday of each month as a public service. Two registered nurses will screen the participants.

When necessary, persons with elevated blood pressure will be referred to their family physicians.

A sleeping giant aroused?

The Pomona Mall which in a 15 year period has gone from a symbol of success to one of financial defeat may soon rise again as a major retail shopping center.

That's the feeling that business and civic leaders and public officials took away from a press conference last Friday when they learned that three new retail establishments will be opening on the mall in the near future and other stores will follow before the Christmas shopping season arrives.

One of the reasons for the new optimism about a rebirth of the downtown shopping areas is that ownership of many of the mall buildings is now concentrated in three parties, all of them recent purchasers.

Previously, a major stumbling block to the various proposed redevelopment projects which have failed to materialize in the past has been the fragmentation of ownership which made it virtually impossible for the many owners to get together on any one venture.

However, a unanimity of purpose among the new owners, Frank Summers, Victor Tessier and Jerry Edgars, is what gives everyone encouragement that the new master plan for redevelopment of downtown Pomona will indeed succeed.

Summers is also president of California Park Development Co., which will renovate and remodel existing buildings along the mall and erect new structures as needed. At least one major department store on the west end of the mall is contemplated.

The plans as outlined by Summers will require a lot of hard work, enthusasium, dedication, cooperation, and changing the image of downtown Pomona. All of this is possible.

For instance, the city council can start by reopening the mall to two-way traffic, which Summers deemed as absolutely essential. Also, some safeguards will be needed for pedestrians on the mall.

Promotion to change the image of downtown Pomona is required and Summers outlined a program of publication of a weekly tabloid section to advertise and promote the downtown establishments.

For years Pomonans have been asking for someone to do something about saving the downtown area. We think the time has arrived, and that the plans unveiled for the new Pomona Shoppers Park represent the best opportunity for success that has come along.

The project is a logical sequence in the scheme of things that started last year with the Pomona Chamber of Commerce's Discover Pomona effort designed to change the image of Pomona.

Then came the Chamber's purchase of the old Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. branch office building on S. Garey Ave., and the acquisition of two mall buildings which have been razed to make room for a parking lot. Also, the College of Osteopathic Medicine of the Pacific is buying the old J.C. Penney building to open school next year. And there is a movement afoot to acquire the Fox Theater to make it into a community cultural center.

Put these projects together and add the plans for revitalizing the mall and you have a rebirth of the city's central core.

All the plans for redeveloping the downtown area into a major retail center will be for naught, however, if there is not support from the shopping public.

We believe that the downtown area can be restored but, ultimately, the success of the venture will only be assured if Pomonans support with their patronage the area for which they have consistently shown much genuine concern.

Right idea, wrong timing

A subcommittee of the House Ways and Means Committee voted to raise the ceiling on the amount of money a "working retiree" may earn and still receive full Social Security benefits.

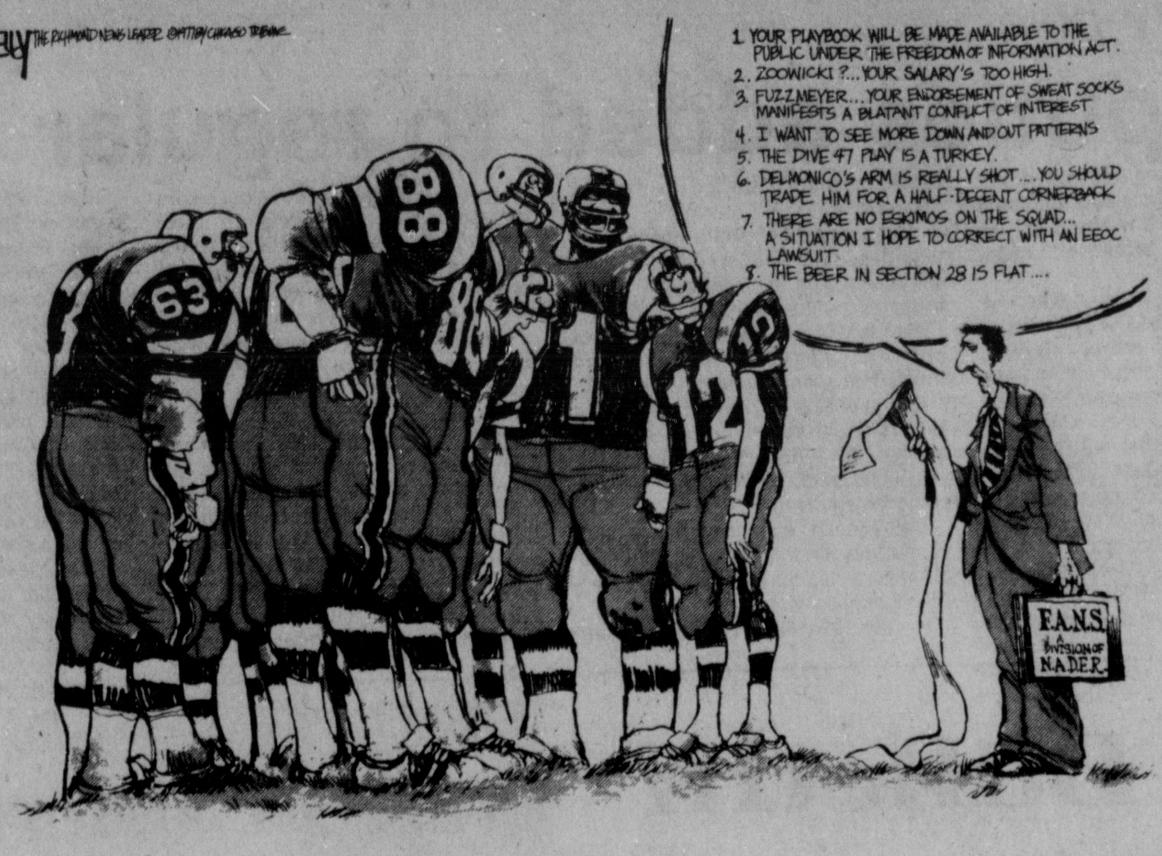

The present ceiling is $3,000 a year. For every $2 above that limit that a retired person under 72 earns, his Social Security pension is cut by $1. Under the Social Security subcommittee's proposal, the limit would go to $4,500 next year, then to $6,000 in 1979 and beyond.

It's estimated that the change would affect about a million and a half retirees and would cost the Social Security trust fund $1.2 billion in 1979 and $2.5 billion in 1979.

There's no question that the earnings limitation works a hardship for many older Americans — though we strongly doubt that anyone with an income of $3,000 or more a year, plus Social Security, is "living on a diet of cat and dog food," as subcommittee Chairman James A. Burke, D-Mass., has claimed.

But to draw another $1.2 billion to $2.5 billion a year out of the already nearly depleted trust fund is asking more of the system than it can reasonably bear at this time.

Questions La Verne's priorities

Dear Editor:

I have been rudely awakened by the hypocrisy that some, if not all, of our administrative heads are practicing. As people, I have had good relations with them, but not as officials of La Verne who are supposed to provide for my best interests. Those elected to represent us have given themselves the absolute power to decide what is to be a priority in our lives by placing comfort and pleasure over safety and equality.

About 10 months ago the city of La Verne formed a committee of the handicapped aimed at assessing the presently needed architectural changes, future planning and stimulating a positive awareness. In the beginning, I had good feelings in being a member, but now I think that it was all a big farce.

Three weeks ago, frustrated and annoyed with the inactivity of the committee and the city, I wrote key officials requesting that constructive work be started by temporarily using money from the general fund that could be replaced by allocations from the federal government. The courtesy of some response was not even extended to me except through an indirect comment by two that "we have no money."

If the city has no money, as I was told, how could we have loaned money for the purchase of a Liberty Bell or a new fire engine a few years ago? Tell me, where did we get some revenue this year to put up night lights at the La Verne College baseball field that will probably only be used six out of 12 months? Or, what about the new parks we are buying?

And don't forget this, the purchase in cash of a new city hall worth $750,000 and who knows how many more thousands of dollars for remodeling. A new city hall that could have been bought a few years ago for about $400,000.

CIA implicated in drug case

WASHINGTON — Secret House documents accuse the Central Intelligence Agency of helping an Asian opium ring smuggle drugs into the United States and then lying to Congress about it.

An intelligence report, quoted in the sensitive House documents, charges unequivocally: "The CIA was, in fact, facilitating the movement of opiates to the U.S. They steadfastly hid behind the shield of secrecy."

The strange drug case had its beginning in 1973 at New York's Kennedy Airport. Drug-sniffing dogs led authorities to 25 film canisters loaded with millions of dollars worth of opium.

The guilty finger was pointed at a dapper Asian named Puttaporn Khramkhruan who, it turned out, was not only a major narcotics smuggler but a valuable CIA agent in Thailand as well.

The Justice Department proceeded to lock him up, but the CIA protested that "national security" was at stake and refused to turn its documents over to the prosecutors. The CIA brought enough pressure that the case was quietly dropped, and Khramkhruan slipped back into Thailand.

But in 1975, a House Government Operations subcommittee learned about the case and demanded hundreds of pages of CIA documents. Then-CIA chief William Colby insisted to the subcommittee that the agency had "fully cooperated" with the prosecutors. And the CIA's association general counsel, John Greaney, even testified under oath that "we did not recommend that he not be prosecuted."

These statements are flatly contradicted, however, by the CIA's own documents. The censored CIA material that was turned over to the subcommittee shows clearly that Greaney and the agency tried to kill the case.

The plan to save Khramkhruan, according to the documents, was supposed to go like this: "John Greaney will attempt to plea bargain (to) have him plead guilty to some lesser charge." The narcotics smuggler would then be "given a suspended sentence and deported."

Another CIA memo describes how a CIA lawyer would "attempt to negotiate with the prosecutors to drop the charges." Greaney himself recommended in writing that "this case be discussed with . . . Department of Justice on the grounds that they ask the U.S. Attorney to drop the prosecution."

After detailing the contacts between Greaney and the prosecutors, another CIA memo announced triumphantly that it was "through exhaustive effort by (CIA) Office of General Counsel over extended period that case did not come to trial."

Another document added that Khramkhruan "is bright enough to realize that the CIA was instrumental in causing dismissal of charges against him."

The House subcommittee also believes that Greaney intentionally withheld the name of Khramkruan's CIA contact. Greaney had told the subcommittee that he didn't know the name of the smuggler's CIA case officer. But the subcommittee report says there were "numerous references" to the case officer in the CIA documents, adding: "It appears inconceivable Mr. Greaney did not have access to these documents in unsanitized form."

Other CIA officials allegedly also tried to mislead Congress about the case. Acting CIA Director Carl Duckett wrote an "apparently incomplete, inaccurate and misleading" letter to Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., according to the subcommittee. Duckett wrote that Khramkhruan did not work for the CIA until 1972. But CIA documents quote Khramkhruan as saying in 1973 that he had worked for the agency for "several years."

Statesthe secret House report: "It was ironic that the CIA should be given the responsibility of narcotics intelligence, particularly since they were supporting the prime movers.

"Even though the CIA was, in fact, facilitating the movement of opiates to the U.S. they steadfastly hid behind the shield of secrecy and said that all was done 'in the interest of national security.'"

The CIA gave "inaccurate" information to Congress, the report declares, "to acquire time to disengage from various groups who were involved in the (narcotics) traffic."

For the CIA officials who have been accused of false testimony, the revelation comes at an awkward time. Their former chief, Richard Helms, is now facing indictment for alleged perjury at a Senate hearing.

Helms allegedly lied about our story, first published in 1972, that the CIA had worked with International Telephone and Telegraph to block Chilean President Salvador Allende from taking office.

Both the CIA and ITT denied our story. It took a Senate investigation to get the facts out. Now a grand jury has recommended multiple-count indictments against Helms for misinforming the Senate.

This development has top CIA officials in a tizzy. They fear Helms may be forced to divulge national secrets in order to defend himself. "Helms has the constitutional right to defend himself," one CIA source pointed out to us. "This gives him the right to repeat in open court his most intimate conversations with presidents. The damage that could result from this would be incalculable."

He called the perjury charges against Helms "astounding" and "unbelieveable." Foreign intelligence services no longer will cooperate with the CIA, he warned, if a CIA director can be compelled to divulge confidences in open court.

Our Man in Washington

On delaying retirement

Most every fast food restaurant in Chicago has a sign out front: 'HIRING' or 'WAITERS WANTED' or 'IMMEDIATE EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY'.

Yet the government continues to pay 82,417 Chicagoans for not working.

If Congress will abolish the mandatory retirement age, many of those unfilled jobs will provide extra income for the able elderly.

Without waiting for the federal government to act, some states are proceeding to abolish mandatory retirement at 65: California, Alaska, Maine.

Since the advent of Social Security in the 1930s it has been the custom and has become the law — that every worker should have to stop work at age 65.

Most unions and most businesses like it like that. Yet for those who want to keep working, the idea of forced retirement is a violation of their rights.

George Sherman, personnel director for Midland-Ross in Cleveland, says, "Mandatory retirement is a terrible waste of human resources. Some of our best, most experienced people are forced out."

His company makes exceptions to the sixty-five-and-out rule.

Nonetheless, most corporations want employees to retire at 65 or sooner and they fear that legally to protect the employee's job past that age would make it difficult for an employer to dismiss an inefficient worker.

CBS finds that it is having to relax its mandatory retirement rule in its Steinway unit because there are not enough younger piano makers.

The Wall Street Journal's survey on this subject revealed that many industries are enforcing retirement at 65 "with exceptions."

A Roper survey reveals that two-thirds of working Americans want to retire early, however, when Roper asked people closest to retirement, those sixty and older, only one-third wanted early retirement.

Roper analysts infer from their findings that what most workers really want is the freedom to make the retirement decision for themselves.

The sense of the Congress now seems to favor some modification of the mandatory retirement laws.

The results will be economically significant:

Would reduce the burden on overburdened Social Security.

Would add to the economic power of people in their sixties.

Would require companies which want to encourage earlier retirement to fatten their pensions.

One of the factors encouraging elderly workers to keep working is inflation. What might have been a comfortable retirement income ten years ago no longer is.

And there is still a "joy in working" for some persons — a fulfillment of the need to be needed — a reason to get up in the morning — which many younger persons have not yet experienced.

Just in jest

To be successful in today s business world, firms must be all things to all people. It takes more than just building a better mousetrap to be assured that people will continue to beat a pathway to your door. So today the magic word is diversification. A typical example of this type of business strategy would be the amazingly successful Coca Cola Company. Just to make doubly certain it will continue to quench the great American thirst, the company also owns several wineries. Now all that remains to be done to control the thirst situation from the cradle to the grave is for the company to purchase a dairy.

Preventing false ID's

By EARL G. WATERS

Legislation which will make identification documents more certain in the future has been signed by Gov. Jerry Brown. The measure, authored by Assemblyman Jerry Lewis, is aimed at preventing the use of birth certificates of deceased persons by others to establish false identities.

Under existing law, birth certificates may be obtained by anyone through mail application and the payment of a $2 fee. The certificate is then used to obtain other documents which are commonly used to establish identity such as driver's licenses, passports, and social security cards.

It has long been known that criminals have created new identities for themselves by obtaining the birth certificate of a deceased person and assuming that person's name. Reportedly this method has also been used by governmental agencies in building new identities as protection for key witnesses.

The flaw in the record system has been that, although all vital statistics are maintained in the same governmental agencies, birth records have never been checked against deaths.

Under the Lewis' bill the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Health Department will henceforth be required to note the fact of death on all birth records.

While the initial program will be put into effect on deaths as they occur, Merle Shields, Registrar of Vital Statistics, is programming to back track at least 40 years to note deaths on births occurring during those decades. "We'll go back as far as practical," he said.

He pointed out the system won't be 100 percent effective since deaths in other states may be overlooked. "However," he said, "we do get notified by about 36 states through a cooperative program."

Lewis said he understands that his bill will make California the first state to undertake this protection against false use of the birth certificate. He said that in order to convince his fellow lawmakers of the need for the bill, one of his aides, Darlene Blecher, actually went through the process of obtaining false identity documents to demonstrate the ease in which it can be done.

She applied for and obtained a birth certificate of a deceased person. Using that she then obtained a driver's license and social security number. "I made myself ten years younger doing it," she beamed, explaining that she had obtained the birth record of a deceased person who would have been ten years younger than her had she lived.

Queried as to whether she didn't have some concern that the bureaucrats might seek to prosecute her for obtaining documents with a false identity, she said "I wasn't doing it for a fraudulent purpose but merely to prove the need for the law change. I'm sure that any attempt to prosecute would be dismissed in the interest of justice."

Since birth certificates may be obtained not only from the State Bureau of Vital Statistics but from the counties where birth took place as well, Lewis' bill will require death notations to be made in both places. His measure increases the current $2 fee by $1, the added amount to be split between the state and counties to finance the costs of correcting the records.

Ann Landers

A letter worth sharing

Dear Ann Landers: A lot has been said in your column about what's wrong with education, why Johnny can't read and why teachers don't want to teach.

Our local paper, the Claremont Courier (California) carried a good letter to the editor which is worth sharing. — Concerned

To The Editor: I submit this letter because education is under fire these days. I have a suggestion that might help. I propose that one week be set aside during which teachers would teach their routine classes and nothing extra be added.

During that week there would be no class meetings, no California Achievement Tests, no yearbook and ring sales, no senior pictures taken, no rock band assemblies, no field trips, no school fair, no play rehearsal, no track meet, no creative art festival, no eye testing, no reading-system salesmen, no gym floor varnishing, no meeting for the group going to Spain, no fire drill, no pep rally, no speaker from Africa, no slide-show assembly, no TB skin test, no open-house visiting, no band practices, no passes for students to stay and finish an experiment, wait for the sweet rolls to come out of the oven, make up a test, mop up spilled paint or clean the ink of the printing press, and no early dismissal for part-time jobs.

This week should not contain Memorial Day, Good Friday, Columbus Day, Veteran's Day, Martin Luther King Day, George Washington's birthday, Labor Day, the first day it snows or the first balmy day in spring.

Should such a week be arranged, it is possible that our students might be able to do what they are supposed to do in school. Learn something. — Observer

Dear Concerned: Many a truth is spoken in jest and about two layers beneath the humor is something worth thinking about. Thanks for sending on "Observer's" letter.

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you aren't so fed up on the issue of toilet tissue that you won't print just one more letter.

The person who gave you the needle said there was no right or wrong way to set up the roll. She signed herself "Paper Crazy."

I disagree with her. Just put a roll out the way "Paper Crazy" says it should go and leave a normal two-year-old child alone in the bathroom for 60 seconds and you will see that the right way is the way you and the rest of the people in Iowa do it. — Smart In Michigan

Dear Smart: Thanks for the vote of confidence. As I said before, I had no idea so many people had such strong convictions about whether toilet paper should be dispensed so it rolls over the top and down or under and close to the wall. Apparently after 22 years of writing this column I'm still learning plenty about human nature.

Toad's yawning can be molting

DEAR DR. MILLER: Thaddeus, my toad, missed his first meal in months, sat back and began to yawn. What gives? Sleeping sickness in a toad? — T.E.

DEAR T.E.: Not Necessarily. Yawning can be the first step in molting. If Thaddeus were about to shed his outer skin, prodigious yawns help to pull and crack the old skin which begins to come off the hind legs first (a bit like pantyhose in reverse). You would certainly know by this time whether Tad's wide-open mouth was related to this shedding process.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Some of Buddy's nails, especially his front inside dewclaws, grow around in a circle and right into his pads if they aren't trimmed off. Why do dog nails do this? I am also wondering how come his nails grow so long and so fast when he is older. — U.E.

DEAR U.E.: Nails tend to grow down and around in a circular fashion because the dorsal (top) part of the nail grows at a faster rate. The top of the nail then pushes down and around forming that curved claw. The rate of nail growth actually slows as the animal ages but activity, especially in the aged animal, slows too. Hense the nails receive littie wear. Unless these nails are trimmed regularly, the inner nerve and blood supply will extend further down into the nail and then the nails can no longer be trimmed closely. (Not, at least, without unwarranted bleeding and pain).

DEAR DR. MILLER: Twice now I have noticed during late hot spells that our cat washes itself so much it gets wet. Why? Our dog will just sit there and pant his head off. — D.R.

DEAR D.R.: Since neither dog nor cat has effectively functioning sweat glands (except in the feet) they need additional cooling mechanisms for the body during the hot weather. The dog unloads excess body heat by shallow but rapid panting which carries mousture-laden hot air from the lungs. The cat cannot pant as effectively as the dog. It pants too deeply and changes its blood chemistry too quickly in the process. A cat pants less then, for heat loss, but compensates by a heavy flow of watery saliva which it spreads on its coat for additional cooling by evaporation.

The quieter the dog or cat is during hot weather, the less body heat it generates, and thus the better its chances to cope. When it is really hot, gently dousing either animal with cold water may help cool it.

Your Birthday, Oct. 5, 1977

Chances for a rise in status or an advancement are excellent for you this coming year. To accomplish either, you need an ally on the inside who will stand by you in any eventuality.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Instead of operating logically and weighing alternatives, you have a tendency to do things the hard way today. Unfortunate, but true. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you're too intent on forcing your views upon others today, you'll be asking for trouble. They'll work against you behind your back.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Make no deals today with shady types. These people could cut a few corners, and you could be one of them!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Someone whose toes you've stomped upon may have the opportunity to get back at you today. Chances are he will, if you're not wary.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your physical stamina is not all it should be today. Don't overtax yourself. Leave strenuous tasks for tomorrow.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you attempt to manipulate others for personal gains today, your well-laid plans could backfire. This would cause you some serious problems.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're good at opening negotiations today, but you're not a good closer. Take care or you may impulsively do something that's not in your best interests.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In your zeal to accomplish things today, guard against being too bossy. Co-workers will resent it and could be outspoken in their protests.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Strive diligently to keep harmony in any profitable arrangement you may have with someone else. You must pull together, and not work at odds.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Chances are you're a bit overprotective today. The tighter you draw the leash, the more the fledglings will try to break it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your usual approach is open and above board. Today you may try something a little devious and be trapped on your own flypaper.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Unless you're very careful, your budget will wind up with a deficit today. Non-essential expenditures could become a critical drain.

'Portable' has its memories

Isn't it funny. I can remember the exact day I first heard the word "portable." It was Aug. 16, 1956, at 3:35 p.m. when my husband presented me with a "portable" sewing machine.

(It's probably a coincidence but that's the exact day he got his first slipped disk by lifting the "portable" sewing machine to the table.)

I didn't think much about it again until we bought a "portable" air conditioner for the den. That was — let's see — Thursday evening, the 20th of March, 1961.

(I remember saying how great it was that the warranty covered the damages to the unit when my husband dropped it on my foot.)

Frankly, I don't know what we did before American ingenuity discovered that if you put a handle on something or a set of wheels it became "portable."

It has opened up a whole new world for those of us "on the move."

We thought a swimming pool was out of range until we found a "portable" pool we could put up ourselves. That was . . . I got it, Memorial Day, 1971, to November of that same year.

(I remember saying to my husband he couldn't have swum in it anyway until they took the stitches out of his hands that he cut on the fence.)

And who could forget our portable boat that made a dent in the roof of the car, the portable microwave oven that we took apart to transport, the portable stereo that took five boys to carry, and the portable picnic table that we carried in the portable trailer.

Neither of us will ever forget the excitement of owning my first portable typewriter. At first, I worried because it hurt my arm to lift it off the floor. Within a matter of days, however, my arm stretched out about five inches and the typewriter slid comfortably across the floor while my hand steadied it.

A lot of people bad-mouth "portables." However, when our neighbors had their house ripped off and the portable TV was missing, they found the thief and the set within a couple of hours.

The guy was checking into a local hospital for emergency hernia repair just as the police were checking the cars in the emergency lot.

Isn't that a coincidence?

Dr. Lamb

Good health's real enemy

DEAR DR. LAMB — Why don't doctors do more about preventing illnesses? It seems to me doctors spend most of their time just trying to prolong someone's life who is going to die anyway. Wouldn't it be a lot better to prevent this person from getting sick in the first place? Is this because doctors make more money doing heart surgery and treating cancer than they do preventing it?

DEAR READER — Doctors have discovered the real enemy to health a long time ago and there isn't much we can do about it. The enemy is YOU! Doctors would love to prevent illnesses but they can only be successful in this area to the extent that people follow the good advice they have been given.

Let's look at automobile accidents.

In 1974 when lower automobile speed limits were being obeyed the death rate from automobile accidents dropped 17.4 percent. But people do not want to slow down to save energy let alone their own or someone else's life.

Did you know that your chances of surviving an accident at 71 miles per hour are only about 50-50 at best? The chances of survival improve the slower the speed. At speeds between 51 and 60, the chances are 31 to 1 in your favor. When you are inclined to drive fast just remember the figures. Accidents are the most common cause of death in males and females between the ages of 15 and 34 and most of these are automobile accidents. There is little doctors can do to prevent you from risking your life or others. You are the problem.

Doctors ask people to quit smoking. Do they? Who can make a person quit smoking? Yet cancer is the second most common cause of death and lung cancer is the most common cause of cancer deaths. Did you know that 90 percent of all lung cancer could be stopped tomorrow if everyone would quit smoking? Can the doctors outlaw smoking?

Fatal heart attacks are three times as common in smokers as in nonsmokers. Yet smoking is permitted in public places and during commercial travel. Intelligent people who know they are increasing their risk continue to smoke cigarettes. What can the doctor do?

There is abundant evidence that limiting your calorie intake and keeping your physical activity up to eliminate or prevent obesity will benefit your health in preventing high blood pressure, elevated fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries that lead to heart attacks and strokes and premature senility. Only you can limit your calories and exercise.

Cirrhosis of the liver is the fourth most common cause of death in men between the ages of 35 and 54 and 60 percent of these are caused by alcohol. Doctors have no authority to make people quit abusing their bodies with alcohol.

If people follow sensible living habits they can live in good health longer. To give you some more information on what we know about aging and how to prevent or slow its occurrence I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-7, Perpetual Youth, Aging. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

What people say

"Flavor is not a factor of primary interest to plant breeders. We are concerned more with crop productivity, resistance to disease and rot and the ability to withstand rough handling from pickers, customers and store personnel."

—Dr. John F. Kelly, chairman of the vegetable crops department at the University of Florida, on the lack of flavor in vegetables.

"I think the zone defense came in because it keeps more white guys in the defensive backfield. From an owner's standpoint, you want those white guys because you're selling your product and if you look up into the stands and see those white faces, you know who you are selling to."

—John Mackey, former pro football tight end, on lingering racism in professional sports.

Barbs

Our secretary should be running a boarding house — she loves to take in rumors.

We were given two ears and one mouth to remind us that we should listen twice as much as we talk.

You can instantly recognize a sensible, intelligent person by the way he immediately agrees with you.

If Mother Nature ever colored leaves the way we did in kindergarten, she'd really have a production.

How Archimedes torched fleet

Historians have read that the Greek scientist Archimedes in about 200 B.C. used a big burning-glass to set fire to Roman ships besieging his home town of Syracuse. But inasmuch as the Greeks didn't have the savvy to make that size of burning-glass, those historians couldn't figure out just how he did it. Recently, a modern Greek engineer surmised that Archimedes had soldiers polish their shields and focus the sun's reflections from same on the enemy ships. Not long ago to prove the point, 70 Greek sailors, using simulated shields, likewise zeroed-in a target offshore and set it afire in three seconds.

It's likely you knew that the old hairy-chested Viking drank his liquor out of a human headbone. When doing so, in fact, "skull" is what he meant when he toasted, "Skoal!"

TV performers contend that television adds about four inches to their heights and at least 10 pounds to their weight.

SAUSAGE SILO

Q. "What's a 'sausage silo'?"

A. A big plastic bag more than 100 yards long. The Germans invented it. A farmer can move it from year to year anywhere in his barnyard. A special rig tamps into it corn, alfalfa or whatever, and the juices of same, as in a vertical cylindrical silo, mix chemically to make a pretty rich feed for livestock.

Q. "What's the difference, if any, between jeans, Levis and dungarees?"

A. Not much. Jeans are so called because their material originally came from Genoa. Levis are so called because that's the trade name of the Levi Strauss pants. And dungarees are so called because they were first seen by western-world sailors in the East India port of Dunga.

SADDLE BOIL

A statue or two depicts Gen. U.S. Grant astride a charging steed. But no statue shows him atop his son's favorite black pony, the horse he much preferred after the battle of Vicksburg where he developed a boil on his saddle seat. It's a matter of record that he endured this most persistant pain only with the relief of considerable internal medication. Whiskey, pardner, more whiskey!

The big book at hand says our word "blimp" came from "the sound made by striking the gas bag with the thumb." It says further that our word "dirigible" came from the Latin word meaning "steerable." But a scholarly client insists that both were derived from Navy terms: "Class B-Limp" and "Class D-Rigid." Who's right?

Remember, about one out of every 100,000 Masons can claim that distinction known as the 33rd Degree.

Item No. 416C in our Love and War man's file labeled "Progress" reads: "Before the pharaohs took over ancient Egypt, husbands there beat their wives with rough wooden staves called naboots. But after the pharaohs took over, the husbands beat their wives with exquisitely wrought axes called porphyry."

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

When an opponent opens the bidding against you, there is no one who puts a gun to your head and orders you to bid. Still, if you never compete, you miss many of the best things in bridge life.

In a recent tournament about half the East players passed whereupon the bidding was short, sweet and simple. The hand was passed out.

When East opened with a heart, the standard procedure was one spade by West, one notrump by East and three passes to close the bidding.

Some East-West pairs got to two hearts or two or even three notrump. This was unfortunate for them since none of them got plus, while most of the one notrump bidders did make the seven tricks they needed.

The best East-West score came when South decided that he had four spades and was going to overcall. He wound up at two spades doubled.

West opened his singleton heart. East cashed two hearts and gave his partner a ruff. Back came a club and when the smoke of battle had cleared away South had gone down two and East and West had acquired a nice top score.

Ask the Jacobys

The same Mississippi reader wants to know if it is proper to make such remarks as, "I'll pass and let my partner bid."

The answer is that such remarks as well as doubles such as "I'll crack that four spades" are decidedly improper. Nevertheless, while they are forbidden in tournaments, they are condoned in many so called "friendly" games

VEC News Program

Newspaper becomes a textbook

Can you identify the leaders of Congress? Do you know what the initials ERA stand for? Can you name the 85-year-old president of Yugoslavia? Would you be able to take part in a discussion of the problems of southern Africa? If your answer to any of these questions is negative, you may need to brush up on your current events in order to keep up with your children.

This year, students in 46 schools in the valley will participate in current events program that will bring the news of the nation and the world into their classrooms. The Progress Bulletin provides this unique service — called the VEC News Program — free of charge as a public service to the educational community.

The VEC News is a comprehensive weekly news filmstrip program that gives students the opportunity to understand history as it happens. The timely instructional materials pick up where the textbooks leave off by presenting clear, objective coverage of the week's news events. The schools receive news filmstrips that features news photographs, maps, graphs and editorial cartoons. The accompanying discussion guides are written on three different concept and vocabulary levels so students from fourth grade through senior high school may take part in the program.

In addition, participating schools receive 10 news-in-depth studies during the school year. Each includes a captioned filmstrip on a subject of special interest. The in-depth filmstrip has its own illustrated discussion guide with background information to enable students and their teachers to explore the subject thoroughly. This year's special filmstrips will begin with "How To Read the Newspaper Intelligently." Other filmstrips will cover topics as diverse as the First Amendment, Eurocommunism, and the plight of whales.

A second portion of the VEC Program is "The Quiz," a weekly mind-teaser that appears each Monday or Tuesday in the Progress Bulletin. "The Quiz" is a challenging family project. It forms a bridge between home and school, allowing students and parents to test their knowledge of current events together.

"Focus" is another feature of the program. It offers a different perspective of current news stories in brief background articles.

The materials of the VEC News Program are prepared by Visual Education Consultants, Inc., Madison, Wis. More than two million students in over 12,000 schools in the U.S. and Canada use the VEC News Program each week during the school year.

What's going on around here

Prostheses display

A display of prostheses for women who have had mastectomies is planned at the Pomona office of the American Cancer Society on Thursday.

A volunteer from "Reach-to-Recovery" will be present from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The Pomona office is at 111 W. Center St.

Musicians needed

The Webb School Orchestra has openings for instrumentalists in all sections of the orchestra for the new school year.

Rehearsals are held in the school's auditorium at 1175 W. Base Line Road, Claremont from 7 to 9 p.m. High School students are invited to attend. Advanced junior high school players will also be considered for membership. Students of solo caliber may perform with the orchestra.

For further information persons may call 626-3587 and ask for Christopher Trussell between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Speed reading lesson

A free demonstration on "How to Double Your Reading Speed in Two Hours" will be conducted by reading specialist Dan Rosenwasser, President of Educational and Industrial Research, Inc., at the West End YMCA in Ontario Oct. 11 at 7 p.m.

Hospital accredited

Casa Colina Hospital has won a two-year quality accreditation under the comprehensive statewide Consolidated Accreditation and Licensure Survey (CALS) program.

The program is conducted jointly by the California Medical Association (CMA), the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH), and the California Department of Health (SDH).

The tripartate survey assesses, at one and the same time, the quality of medical care given by the hospital's medical staff, hospital operations and administration, and compliance with state licensure requirements.

Needlepoint class

The Claremont Recreation Division is offering a needlepoint class for beginners and intermediates.

There will also be a class for those learning just Bargello stitches. Three classes, each lasting five weeks, will start Oct. 13, sessions from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., will be held at Memorial Park. The fee is $10.50. A kit may be purchased from the instructor at the first class for $3.

Persons may register in the Memorial Park recreation office. For more information, call 624-4531.

Spiritual week

Rev. Marcus Gaston, pastor of the Foothill Evangel Church, and Steve Farrar, minister of youth at Grace Baptist Church, will be guest speakers during Spiritual Emphasis Week at Western Christian High School, Glendora.

Spiritual Emphasis Week, set for this week is presented annually for Western Christian students by the Student Chapel Committee. It involves a full week of chapel sessions geared toward a renewal of personal spiritual commitment.

Civil liberties program

"Separation of Church and State: New Variations on a Traditional Theme" will be discussed by Professor Fred Krinsky, chairman of the Department of Government at Pomona College, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at McAllister Center of the Claremont Colleges.

The American Civil Liberties Union program is open to the public. He will present many new issues which have arisen in recent years concerning the subject of the separation of church and state.

Ortmeyer is speaker

Richard Ortmeyer, liaison representative for the YMCA's International Division for Korea, Japan, Taiwan, the Philippines, Hongkong and New Guinea, will be speaker at a Claremont program Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

He is working with staff people in the Philippines and New Guinea in programs to improve the lives of people in rural areas.

The program, sponsored by the Pomona Valley YMCA World Services Committee, will be held at Decker Hall in Pilgrim Place.

Ortmeyer is in Southern California to attend the YMCA International Division's annual assembly being held at Newport Beach.

S.D. Library to present film for kids

"The Chocolate Factory," a film for children, will be shown Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. at the San Dimas Library.

The library is located at 145 N. Walnut Ave. Further information may be obtained by calling 599-6738.

Political arena

Western singer Eddie Dean will entertain at a barbecue honoring ASSEMBLYMAN DAVE STIRLING, R-64th Dist., Hacienda Heights, Thursday at the Stirling Star Ranch, 10004 E. Mission Mill Road, Whittier.

Dean began his movie career with Hopalong Cassidy, making nine pictures. After that he appeared in more than 60 films in which he acted and sang.

Currently Dean is writing songs and recording.

Western music and an authentic chuckwagon barbecue will be provided for guests who will include Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, Sen. William Campbell, R-Whittier and Sen. Lou Cusanovich, R-Los Angeles. Other members of the Assembly may attend.

This is a major fundraising event for Stirling.

Ticket information may be obtained by calling Carol Watson at 213 696-3858.

ASSEMBLYMAN BILL MCVITTIE, D-65th Dist., Upland, has urged Chino residents to support the community park bond issue which will appear on the ballot in November.

"The future of recreational facilities for Chino will soon be in the hands of the voters, said McVittie, former Chino city attorney.

"Like everywhere else in Southern California, Chino is going through its own growth explosion. This has placed tremendous pressure on existing local recreational facilities.

"Purchasing the proposed park sites now and funding needed improvements will allow the people of Chino to enjoy neighborhood recreation activities at supervised, well-planned parks at a relatively small cost per homeowner."

If the ballot measure is approved, Chino will purchase a 20-acre community park site and fund improvements for another 30 acres already purchased.

Also covered would be construction of lighted athletic facilities, 14 lighted tennis courts, a neighborhood swimming pool at Monte Vista Park and outdoor facilities for senior citizens at the Community Building.

MCVITTIE welcomed his appointment by Assembly Speaker Leo T. McCarthy to the Legislature's Joint Committee on Tort Liability which is undertaking a major investigation of California's civil liability laws.

The committee currently is reviewing the system of settling civil suits, the amount of compensation awarded, the rate-setting procedures of insurance companies and contingency fees received by attorneys.

Legislation cosponsored by REP JIM LLOYD, D-35th Dist., West Covina, has passed the House. It is the Medicare-Medicaid Anti-Fraud Act and the Age Discrimination Act.

"These bills address some of the social problems we face in this country, and are a start toward a solution," said Lloyd.

The Medicare-Medicaid bill is aimed at cutting abuses in federally-supported health care programs without penalizing those who need assistance.

The Age Discrimination bill calls for a re-evaluation of mandatory retirement but will not prohibit voluntary retirement and current pension systems.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY RESIDENTS have until Oct. 10 to register to vote in the Nov. 8 election. Individuals should register if they have moved, married or will be 18 at the time of the election.

SEN. ALAN CRANSTON, D-Calif., chairman of the Senate Veterans' Affairs Committee, has asked the Department of Defense to publish as quickly as possible a new uniform standard for review of military discharges.

The provision for new standards for all services is included in legislation sponsored by Cranston and Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S. C.

It was passed in the Senate last Thursday and in the House on Friday.

The bill would require uniform standards, applicable to veterans of all service periods, not just Vietnam, in determining whether or not an administrative clemency or undesirable discharge should be upgraded.

Some 450 friends and supporters of SENATE MAJORITY LEADER GEORGE DEUKMEJIAN, D-Long Beach, are organizing as Friends of George Deukmejian for Attorney General.

Their goal is to convince the 49-year-old senator to seek the office of attorney general next year.

Deukmejian wrote the death penalty law and the law which mandates a prison sentence to the individual who uses a gun in the commission of a crime.

Bill Roberts of Los Angeles is coordinating the new organization.

Deukmejian said he was "honored," and if the "necessary factors come together in January," he would announce his candidacy for the office of state attorney general.

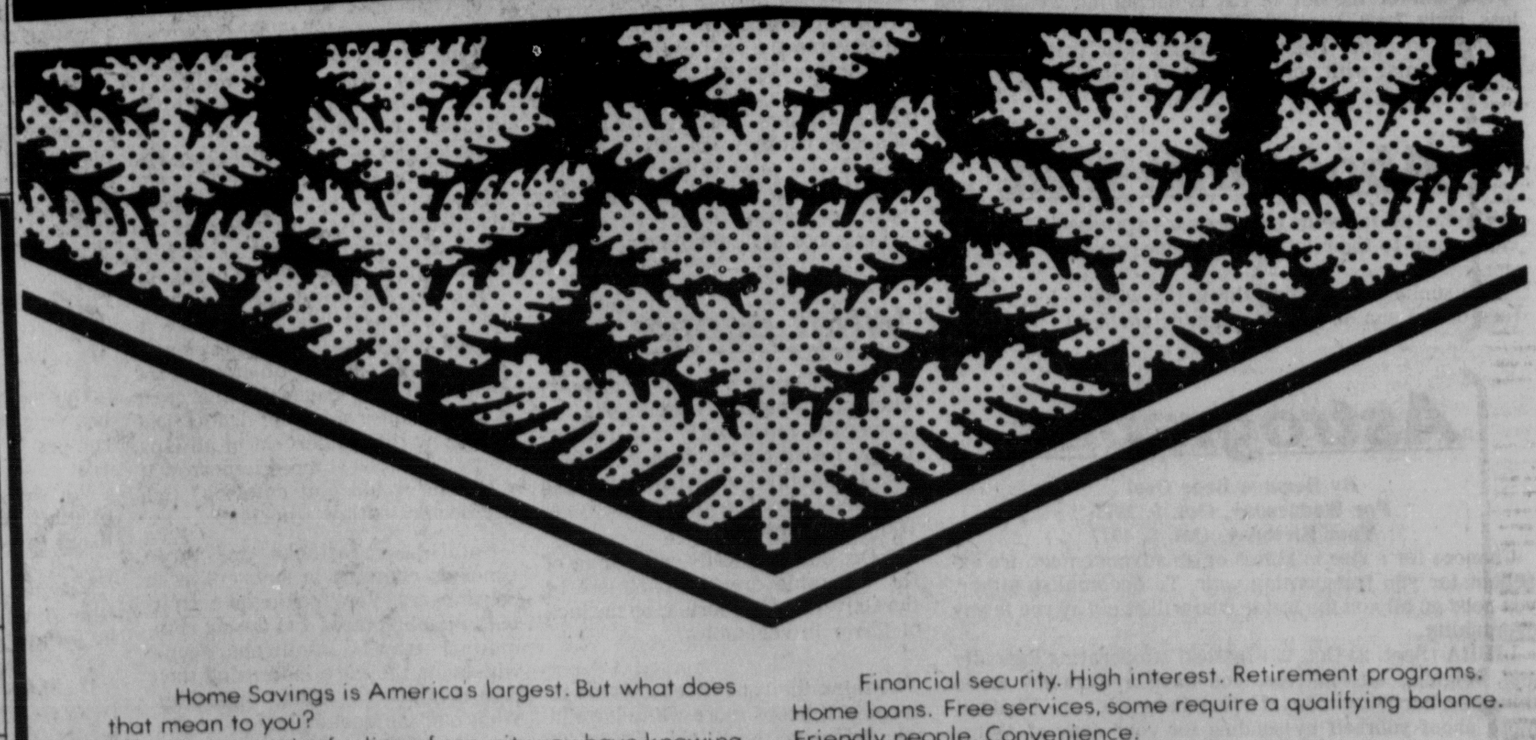

DONALD FRENCH, 30, a Richmond mortgage banker, has announced his candidacy for state treasurer in next year's election.

French served under the second Reagan Administration as deputy real estate commissioner. He was a candidate for Contra Costa clerk-recorder in 1974. He has a bachelors degree in business and public administration and 10 years' experience in banking and finance.

Carter's mulling $5-a-barrel levy on imported oil, says Schlesinger

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is considering a $5-a-barrel levy on imported oil if Congress scraps his plan to raise domestic crude oil taxes, according to his top energy adviser.

The import fee would raise gasoline prices five to seven cents a gallon, the same increase envisioned by the President's original proposal, Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger said this week.

"We are in this ludicrous position in which we are subsidizing every barrel of oil that comes into the country," Schlesinger said.

"That is the reason the (domestic) equalization tax was proposed. If Congress fails to enact that tax, the President must consider other alternatives."

Schlesinger said the President could raise taxes on imported oil under the Trade Adjustment Act without having to get congressional approval.

Schlesinger said the $5-a-barrel import tax would, by raising gasoline prices, have the same energy-saving effect as a $2.50-a-barrel tax on domestic crude.

Schlesinger said the United States "cannot afford" to continue importing $45 billion worth of oil, the projected total for this year.

He said that while gasoline prices would rise under the import tax, consumers could be offered some form of tax relief. Carter has promised to rebate the $12 billion to $15 billion the domestic crude tax would generate to consumers.

Although the crude oil tax was killed by the Senate Finance Committee, an attempt to revive it is expected.

But Schlesinger said that the alternative uses the committee had considered for revenues raised by the tax would "give far too much to the industry."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., asked about Schlesinger's comments, said the question is not so much over the tax itself but what to do with the revenue it would produce.

High Tar No Longer Essential To Taste.

Tests prove low tar MERIT delivers flavor of higher tar cigarettes.

For years, it seemed the only way to get real taste from a cigarette was to smoke a high tar brand.

High tar cigarettes had an "exclusive" on taste.

Today, all the standards are changing because of a new taste breakthrough called 'Enriched Flavor'™ tobacco.

MERIT is packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. Tobacco fortified with certain key flavor-rich ingredients isolated in cigarette smoke and proven to deliver flavor way out of proportion to tar.

© Philip Morris Inc. 1977

Kings: 8 mg. "tar," 0.5 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette, FTC Report Dec.'76
100's: 12 mg. "tar," 0.9 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

REGULAR and MENTHOL

Test Data Conclusive

MERIT and MERIT 100's were both tested against a number of higher tar cigarettes. Thousands of smokers were involved.

Overall, smokers reported they liked the taste of both MERIT and MERIT 100's as much as the taste of the higher tar cigarettes tested.

Cigarettes having up to 60% more tar!

Only one cigarette has 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

And you can taste it.

Phillies lose Garry Maddox

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies will go with 23 game winner Steve Carlton and the Los Angeles Dodgers with 20 game victor Tommy John, but the big news at the National League playoffs today was the Phillies' loss of star center fielder Garry Maddox.

The Phillies' prospects of winning their first NL pennant since 1950 took a sharp drop when team physician Dr. Philip Marone said Maddox probably would miss the first two in the best-of-five game series with the Dodgers.

Maddox, who hit .293 and finished the regular season with a 14-game hitting streak, sustained a contusion of the left kneecap, which caused fluid to build up on a joint which limits the outfielder's ability to walk, let alone run.

Maddox, referred to in Philadelphia as the Phillies' secretary of defense, might not even be able to play Friday when the series shifts to Philadelphia for game No. 3.

Phillies Manager Danny Ozark tried to conceal his concern by saying he still had hopes Maddox would play. Ozark must have access to some miracle cure, if the doctor's words are to be believed. Maddox came to Dodgers' Stadium Monday, underwent examination and treatment and was sent back to the hotel.

If Maddox doesn't play — and Ozark insisted on the use of the word "if" — Bake McBride will move from right to center field, and either Jerry Martin or Jay Johnstone play right. Martin or Johnstone probably can pick up Maddox' lost offense, but even the accomplished McBride can't cover center field like the injured star.

And if the Maddox problem wasn't enough, the Phillies had another gripe after Monday's workout. They protested to league officials the conditon of the dirt in front of home plate, contending it was raked for John's style of pitching.

Phillies' officials and the umpires assigned to the series will meet at the Stadium at 2 p.m. PDT to inspect the playing surface. John's slow stuff, which induces batters to hit into the dirt, is the Phillies' concern.

"It's like a beach in front of home plate," said shortstop Larry Bowa. "I ought to get a towel and sun bathe. It's better than Florida. Hit one in that dirt and it will be lost in the sand for a ground rule double."

Outfielder Jay Johnstone observed, "You could play sandbox there."

Bowa also complained about the height of the grass. He said it was high for John, and would probably be cut for pitcher Don Sutton in the second game.

"Tell the Dodgers that in Philadelphia they'll find the grass doesn't grow," Bowa added. The Phillies' field is an artificial surface.

The Dodgers, who won the West Division by 10 games over runnerup Cincinnati, were 6½-5 favorites over the East champion Phillies, winner by five games over Pittsburgh.

The matchup of Carlton against John featured two of the leading candidates for the Cy Young Award as the league's best pitcher.

John, whose operation scarred left elbow looks like a map of the Los Angeles freeway system, posted a 20-7 record with a 2.78 ERA. He started 31 games, completed 11. Against the Phillies he was 1-1 with a 3.00 ERA.

Carlton went 23-10, compiled a 2.64 ERA, and completed 17 of 36 games started. He was 1-1 against Los Angeles, with a 2.40 ERA. Carlton, previously a pigeon for base runners, developed a new move this season that resulted in 22 pickoffs. It's a controversial move that has opposing managers and base runners screaming balk. But the umpires say it's legal.

Both teams have power, with four Dodgers hitting 30 or more home runs — Steve Garvey (33), Reggie Smith (32), Ron Cey (30) and Dusty Baker (30). The Phillies' Greg Luzinski slammed 39 and Mike Schmidt 38, with six others in double figures. The Phillies appear to have an edge in speed, defense and bullpen, the Dodgers have deeper starting pitching.

An important factor is the playing surfaces. The Dodgers were built to play on grass, the Phillies for the faster, truer artifical surface. Both managers are products of the Dodgers' organization, Ozark and Lasorda serving apprenticeship as coaches for Los Angeles on major and minor league levels.

Ozark planned to platoon Dave Johnson at first base with Richie Hebner, Johnson starting aganst the left-handed John. Lasorda is doing the same with center fielders Rick Monday and Glenn Burke. Burke, who is four-for-six against Carlton this season, starts tonight.

Ozark won't admit it, but the Phillies would be satisfied with a split of the first two games in Los Angeles. The club was 60-21 at home, tops in the National League, and plays before one of the most vocal crowds in baseball. As Dodgers' catcher Johnny Oates — he played last year for the Phillies — put it: "We don't want to have to win two out of three or three straight before those maniacs."

The teams split 12 regular-season games with identical 2-4 home and away records. Overall that's about the way they stack up for the playoffs. The loss of Maddox could give the Dodgers the edge.

Luzinski gets vote

The regular baseball season is over, the World Series is just beyond the horizon, and it's Oscar time again in the major leagues.

Pretty soon they'll be opening up the envelopes and announcing the honorees for the outstanding performances for 1977.

Jumping the gun, here is one man's ballot for the key awards:

Most Valuable Player, National League: Greg Luzinski, Phillies.

Most Valuable Player, American League: Reggie Jackson, Yankees.

NL Manager of the Year: Tom Lasorda, Dodgers.

AL Manager of the Year: Earl Weaver, Orioles.

NL Cy Young Award: John Candelaria, Pirates.

AL Cy Young Award: Jim Palmer, Orioles.

These are official categories, determined by writers' ballots and accorded official recognition in the record books. Winners take their places in indelible ink beside the great and near great of generations past.

There are other categories on which no referendum is taken, yet which had an unmistakable impact on the long, hot and turbulent summer.

To wit:

Outstanding Individual Player, Both Leagues: Rod Carew, Twins.

Best Managerial Job Under Duress: Billy Martin, Yankees.

Biggest Disappointment, Team: Cincinnati Reds.

Biggest Disappointment, Player: Catfish Hunter, Yankees.

Worst Collapse: New York Mets, finishing last with 98 losses after trading away the game's best pitcher, Tom Seaver, and home run hitter Dave Kingman.

Big falacy

Biggest Falacy: The belief that pennants can be bought. Prime examples: The California Angels and San Diego Padres, who invested a fortune in the free agent draft, not to mention Texas, Atlanta, Cleveland and Milwaukee. Disregard the Yankees. They had a closer squeak this year with their million-dollar free agents, Reggie Jackson and Don Gullett, than a year ago without them.

The normal rule of thumb in choosing the season's outstanding players and managers is to start at the top. The assumption is that if a team can win the pennant somebody on that team must have done the most things right.

This theory does not square this year in the case of the Orioles' fiery little Earl Weaver, who lost three million-dollar players—Reggie Jackson, Bobby Grich and Wayne Garland— pieced together a team of largely no-name rookies and almost stole the AL East title from under the noses of the filthy rich Yankees.

Billy Martin deserves accolades for keeping his team and sanity intact when player egos and front office pressure almost destroyed the Yankees in mid-season. Rotund, tobacco-chomping Don Zimmer did a fine job of bringing the Bostons back after their 1976 collapse.

Yet neither did so much with so little as did Weaver, the man they overlooked when the Orioles swept to pennants in 1969, 1970 and 1971.

Dodgers loose

Over in the National League, it was Lasorda's driving enthusiasm and locker room good humor that kept the Dodgers so loose they outsped the champion Cincinnati Reds by 10 games.

The prize of "Most Valuable Player" has a connotation deeper than cold statistics. The question: Most valuable to whom?

Based on pure value to the team and not individual statistics, one can't ignore Jackson, who provided most of the momentum in the Yankees' strong streak after the All-Star break. In the period when the Yankees won 40 of 50 games, Jackson hit 13 homers, accounted for 49 of his 110 RBIs and led the team in game-winning blows.

The Phillies conceivably could not have made it without the powerful, 230-pound Luzinski, with his 39 homers and 130 RBIs.

It's true the Reds' George Foster—52 homers, 149 RBIs and .320 average—and Minnesota's Rod Carew—239 hits and .388 batting average—had more impressive personal credentials but how effective was their motivation?

The forum is now open for debate.

Only 21 usable players

Yanks four short

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees go into the American League playoffs against Kansas City Wednesday, technically one player short of the 25-man limit. But actually, the East Division champions have far fewer usuable men than the 24 their roster lists.

Included among the Yankees eligibles are pitchers Ken Holtzman, Catfish Hunter and Ken Clay, none of whom are likely to see any meaningful action.

Holtzman has pitched only once since Aug. 13 and appeared in only 18 games all season. His lone appearance in the last seven weeks was in a mop-up role during a 19-3 loss to Toronto on Sept. 10. That same game marked the last appearance of Hunter, who is suffering from what the Yankees call a hernia and is questionable at best after going more than three weeks without work. Clay, a rookie, has been used in just 20 games, almost exclusively in mop-up situations to save more important pitchers for later games.

Remove those three and the shrinking Yankee roster dips to 21. But that includes infielder Mickey Klutts, who played all year at Syracuse of the International League and is eligible for the playoffs only by a quirk. Klutts was called up to Yankees when third baseman Graig Nettles injured a knee and the rookie happened to be with the parent club on Aug. 31, the date post-season rosters are frozen. His New York appearances this season comprise a total of just five games.

Then there are two other infielders, both with the club all season, who have been used most sparingly. Fred Stanley, last year's regular shortstop, has appeared in 48 games as a backup for bucky Dent this season. He has a total of 12 hits — two of them in the final game of the regular season. Rookie George Zeber has appeared in just 25 games as the backup man for second baseman Willie Randolph.

With the Yankees already short a man because of the mid-September sale of Carlos May to California, the club petitioned AL President Lee MacPhail for permission to fill the roster vacancy. MacPhail rejected the request and Yankees owner George Steinbrenner and President Gabe Paul charged that he was pressured into refusing to allow New York to add a 25th player.

Bruin preparations haven't changed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The UCLA preparations to face Stanford haven't changed because quarterback Guy Benjamin of the Cardinals might miss the game with a knee sprain, and be replaced by Steve Dils.

"They won't change their offensive plans. Dils looked like he'd been playing there his whole life," UCLA Football Coach Terry Donahue said Monday.

Dils is a junior backup quarterback who directed a 70-yard drive that clinched Stanford's 20-10 victory over Oregon Saturday, after Benjamin was hurt midway in the final period.

Stanford will carry a 3-1 record into the game at Stanford, including 1-0 in the Pac-8 Conference. UCLA is 2-2, all nonconference games.

UCLA's offense was primarily passing in its opening game loss to Houston, and the offense was inconsistent in a victory over Kansas and a loss to Minnesota. But Donahue says the Bruin offensive line showed great improvement in Saturday's 34-16 trouncing of Iowa.

Benjamin passed for 378 yards in a loss to UCLA a year ago, but Donahue noted that the Stanford offense has a running threat too, freshman Darrin Nelson from Los Angeles. Nelson has 340 yards so far, a 5.8 per rush average.

UCLA runs well too, but is thin at the halfbacks. Right half Ernie Saenz is doubtful for the Stanford game because of a gash on his leg, and third string tailback Ron Gueringer is out for the year after a knee injury required ligament surgery.

Bruin's right half Scott Stauch hyperventilated and was knocked out during the victory over Iowa and probably can see action, but Donahue says he will be watched closely. Glenn Cannon took over at right halfback for Stauch and Saenz, and has become UCLA's second leading ball carrier at 185 yards. Olympic hurdler James Owens leads the Bruin ballcarriers with 346 yards.

USC ranks No. 1 but has tough road

By Associated Press

Southern Cal is sitting in the driver's seat for a national championship, says Coach John Robinson, but the road to No. 1 is filled with hurdles and holes.

"All we have to do to win the national championship is go undefeated," he notes with some apprehension, then adds: "Of course if we go undefeated, we'll deserve to win the national championship."

Robinson isn't talking through his field cap. The nation's No. 1 team will need some muscle to stay in that position, considering the remaining games on the schedule.

Moved into the top spot in The Associated Press' weekly poll Monday, the Trojans have a formidable schedule the rest of the way and will continue their tough timetable toward the national championship against Alabama this Saturday.

"It'll be difficult," says Robinson, "and it should be exciting. But we do have the confidence. That's one thing that we always have here at Southern Cal, and it doesn't matter what position we are in the polls.

"Actually, I don't think poll position means that much to us at this time of the season. It doesn't change our goals, which is just to win the next game as it comes. We don't get motivated by ranking — we're able to motivate ourselves."

Part of the confidence might be attached to Trojan tradition, but mostly it comes from the extraordinary talent on this year's squad, including one of the country's best passers in quarterback Rob Hertel. It's one reason that Southern Cal — traditionally a tailback-oriented team — is traveling more by air this season.

"Rob throws the ball well," said Robinson, "and of course we've liked to throw the ball a lot this year because it makes our running game that much better."

After Alabama, the Trojans will face several other strong teams toward the end of the season, including Notre Dame and Pac-8 rivals California and UCLA.

Robinson, especially is fearful of the Golden Bears.

"UCLA and California both have great talent," says Robinson, "but California will probably be our toughest opponent in the league this year. That shapes up as the big game right now."

The Trojans just came off a pretty big game — for them — a 41-7 victory over a tough Washington State team, and the impressive decision was the reason they were made No. 1 in the poll by the nationwide panel of 60 sports writers and broadcasters.

Jessie expected to miss season

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ron Jessie is expected to miss the rest of the season for the Los Angeles Rams, after a torn knee ligament was repaired in surgery Monday, a spokesman for the National Football League team reports.

The long-striding wide receiver will wear a cast for at least six weeks before exercises to strengthen the knee can begin, said Rams Public Relations Director Jerry Wilcox.

Dr. Clarence Shields, who performed the operation, said there was no cartilage damage to the right knee.

Will REAL La Verne team please stand?

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

Walt Ambord and Roland Ortmayer had some friendly differences of opinion in the wake of last Saturday's La Verne College triumph over Pomona-Pitzer.

They, and the valley's other college coaches, were in attendance Monday at the weekly Progress Bulletin luncheon at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona.

Ambord, whose team fell to the Leos 42-20 after trailing 35-0 at the half, felt Ortmayer's team was back at its peak after an opening-game loss. In contrast, Ortmayer claimed his team has a long way to go to be a consistent winner.

Weekly awards at the four-year level went to La Verne's Brad Frick and Azusa Pacific's Scott Hertenstein. It marked the second straight week that Hertenstein was so honored.

Frick rushed four times for 59 yards and two touchdowns vs. Pomona-Pitzer, and the only other time he touched the football in the game he ran back a kickoff 95 yards and another score.

Hertenstein paced APC past Whittier with 15 unassisted and 12 assisted tackles from his nose guard position. Included in that total were four quarterback sacks.

Citrus wide receiver Bruce Welden and Mt. San Antonio defensive tackle Mateo Laula received the weekly player honors at the JC level.

Welden made 14 catches for 94 yards and one touchdown in the Owls' win over Rio Hondo. Laula paced a Mountie defensive unit which surrendered only one touchdown in MSAC's 24-7 win over L.A. Harbor.

Other nominees from the four-year schools were APC tight end Rick Dutton, Claremont-Mudd defensive end Ned Bruno and Cal Poly safety Jim Middleton. Citrus defensive end Greg Grzechowiak was the only other nominee at the JC level.

Quoting the coaches:

AMBORD, Pomona-Pitzer: "We played the REAL La Verne football team last week. I felt they were a good offensive team in spite of their showing vs. Whittier, and they proved it vs. us with a 35-0 first half.

"Our game was stopped with a couple minutes left when one of the officials walked off the field after a disagreement with one of my assistants. It wasn't that big of a thing, really. The official should have never walked off like that.

"We lost Jim Busterud to an injury in the game, but Greg Harris, who's only 5-5 and 125 pounds, came in and played real well with a touchdown catch and three nice kickoff returns. It was the first time he'd ever played football.

"John Buzzard also continued his fine punting for us. He's averaging 45 yards a kick.

"We play St. Mary's this week, they are 1-2 right now. It will be another tough game for us but I feel we are an improved team from last year. Our kids are trying hard and that's all I can ask for."

ORTMAYER, La Verne: "I can understand Walt's position. It's really tough to coach when your situation doesn't match the other guys.

"I am still not real excited about our team. We don't do some things well at all. I feel a lot of the problem boils down to some poor coaching, which is obviously something I personally have to correct.

LOST IN THE CROWD — Chiefs' running back Tony Reed is smothered by Oakland Raiders' Charles Phillips (right) and Willie Hall (39) Monday night in Kansas City.

Raiders handle adversity

KANSAS CITY (AP) — John Madden wrapped his meaty hand around a soft drink can, sighed, and declared that his Oakland Raiders had just shown the world why they are the reigning champions of professional football.

"It's because of things like this that we are champions — being able to handle adversity, whether it's self-inflicted or not," said the Oakland coach.

Stunned by three Mike Livingston touchdown passes in the second quarter Monday night, Madden's Raiders went to halftime trailing the winless, but emotionally-charged Kansas City Chiefs 21-13.

But a three-touchdown blitz in the third quarter wiped out the lead, deflated the Chiefs and sent the Raiders rolling to a 37-28 victory before a nationwide television audience that had to be impressed by their poise, precision and grace under pressure.

Madden was impressed.

"At halftime, we came in, talked it over and came out in the second half and took it back," he said. "We got it back under control. One of the reasons we're champions is games like tonight."

Fred Biletnikoff fried rookie cornerback Gary Green on a 21-yard touchdown pass late in the first quarter, and by the time Errol Mann booted a 42-yard field goal in the first minute of the second quarter the rout many experts had predicted seemed to be taking shape.

Then Livingston, who was booed mercilessly by Chiefs fans the week before, tossed touchdown passes of 48 and 2 yards to tight end Walter White, then, 29 seconds after White's second score, teamed with Henry Marshall on a 42-yard scoring play.

The Raiders recovered in time for Mann to hit a 34-yard three-pointer with 1:02 remaining, but rookie running back Tony Reed, who totaled 102 yards, darted and weaved for 59 to the Oakland six as time expired.

The Raiders re-established their dominance in the third quarter with chilling efficiency.

A 69-yard march in 12 plays with the second half kickoff, capped by Pete Banaszak's one-yard plunge, made it 21-20.

Starting again from their 30, the Raiders needed just three plays, highlighted by Ken Stabler's 26-yard pass to Dave Casper and Clarence Davis' 37-yard touchdown run, to regain the lead, 27-21.

The next scoring drive covered 47 yards in four plays, with Davis again taking it in, from the 2.

The Raiders had swept 186 yards for three touchdowns in 12 minutes, seven seconds. The Chiefs had never gotten closer than the Raider 31, and they were defeated.

"They're the world champions," said Coach Paul Wiggin of the Chiefs. "They are an outstanding football team. We just couldn't stop them."

The Chiefs added a fourth-quarter touchdown on Lawrence Williams' 15-yard run on a reverse, and Mann, who is 7-for-8 this year, got to kick one more 22-yarder.

Madden snorted when it was suggested that the Raiders may have been overconfident.

"Hell, no," he said. "We just gave 'em a little life and they took advantage, that's all."

Ray Guy, Oakland's great kicker, did not punt once for the first time since he was drafted in 1973.

"I don't remember playing a game before where we haven't punted the ball," Madden said.

"We didn't force Guy to punt once and that was the difference," said Wiggin. "I think the defense came on with a lot of emotion, but it wasn't enough. I think we came out probably with a good feeling at the start of the second half.

"But I guess we just aren't quite as good as Oakland. I told them to hold their heads up. These guys played their hearts out."

Robinson wins award

NEW YORK (AP) — Brooks Robinson, who announced his retirement this year after a record 23 seasons as the star third baseman of the Baltimore Orioles, was named Monday this year's winner of the Joe Cronin Award for significant achievement in baseball.

The award, to be presented to Robinson before Wednesday's American League championship game between the Kansas City Royals and New York Yankees, was established in 1973 when Cronin retired as AL president. Previous winners were California's Nolan Ryan, Detroit's Al Kaline, Minnesota's Rod Carew and Baltimore's Jim Palmer.

Robinson's 23 years with the Orioles is a record for any player with one team. He finished with a .971 fielding average, the best ever by a third baseman, and won 16 straight Gold Glove Awards for his fielding.

He was also a member of 18 consecutive All-Star teams and was the AL's Most Valuable Player in 1964, the 1966 All-Star Game MVP and the 1970 World Series MVP.

Free agent season here

By Associated Press

With the regular season over, the free-agent season can't be far behind. Like Christmas, that's the season to be jolly for a handful of players who can command high bidding for their services.

It's also the season of good cheer for teams that can fill weak spots by signing top-notch free agents without giving up comparable players. Of course, they will probably need a pile of green stuff as high as a giant Christmas tree.

As of today, there are potentially 64 players eligible for the second annual re-entry draft Nov. 4. (That figure does not include the two dozen or so players who were minor leaguers for all or much of the 1977 season.)

About a dozen of the 64 major leaguers can be considered blue-chippers who will stimulate the laws of economics and the competitive juices of the baseball owners looking for the winning edge.

Twenty-three of the 64 players snipped off their chains by not signing 1977 baseball contracts. The rest are six-year veterans whose contracts, signed after Aug. 9, 1976, expired after the current season.

Need a big home run hitter who will stop the pitchers from laughing at your powder-puff lineup?

You don't have to look much further than Richie Zisk (30 homers, 101 RBIs), Larry Hisle (27 homers and an American League-leading 119 RBIs) or Dave Kingman (26 homers and 78 RBIs for four different teams this season.)

Zisk, Hisle and Kingman, all outfielders, represent the top right-handed sluggers. If your lineup lacks a left-handed swinger who can bust fences and end ball games, Oscar Gamble is your man. Gamble, an outfielder, socked 31 homers for the Chicago White Sox and had a phenomenal slugging percentage of .586.

At 27, Gamble wouldn't be much of a risk. But he won't come cheap. Willie Stargell, the longtime left-handed lumberman of the Pittsburgh Pirates, would be more of gamble since he is coming off an injury-plagued season, in which he totaled 13 homers in 63 games. He's also 36 years old.

These big guns wouldn't have loomed so big if the batters earlier in the lineup didn't get on base. That's the value of a Lyman Bostock, who batted .336 while scoring 105 runs and knocking in 90. Ralph Garr batted .302 and scored 78 runs. Bostock and Garr are also outfielders.

On the whole, this year's batch of eligible outfielders compares favorably with last season's crop, which included Reggie Jackson, who signed a five-year package with the New York Yankees for $2.9 million, Joe Rudi, signed for five years by California for $2.09 million, and Gary Matthews, who signed a five-year contract with Atlanta worth $1.75 million.

But the minor leagues will have to provide the majors with new infield and catching talent. The free-agent infielders and catchers, not a particularly talented lot, aren't expected to arouse much interest.

There's no Don Gullett or Wayne Garland, a 20-game winner in 1976, in the list of freeagent pitchers.

The pitching plum may be Rich Gossage of Pittsburgh, one of the top relief specialists in the game. Gossage, a right-hander, won 11 games and saved 26 others while posting a stingy 1.62 earned run average this season.

Gosaage is 26, as is Rawly Eastwick, last year's top reliever in the National League. Eastwick had contract troubles with Cincinnati and was traded in mid-June to St. Louis. Under the strain of contract difficulties, Eastwick slipped to 5-9 with 11 saves and a 3.90 ERA.

MOTORIST TORTURED ON HIGHWAY

Driving a sluggish car that coughs, misses or drags on the highway can be sheer torture. Erratic engine performance is often caused by crankcase contaminents and sticking mechanical parts. In such cases you can help restore lost performance thanks to a special formulation called WYNN'S® ENGINE TUNE-UP. This famous oil treatment works in 10 minutes as you drive to help quiet valves and lifters, while it dissolves away harmful deposits. Cal Poly is hoping for some big plays

"This week we play at Azusa Pacific. We will be in against a tough opponent on a tough field and up against some fine coaches. We will have to strengthen our offense and kicking game to give them a battle. If we can get straightened out, it should be a fun game."

JIM JONES, Cal Poly: "I think one of our problems has been that we have been underestimating our first few opponents knowing that we will be playing teams like Ball State in the future.

"I think this was true against UC Davis last Saturday. We beat ourselves more than anything else. We did not execute well at all, especially our offensive line.

"It was encouraging to still be in the game with them with four minutes to go. We stopped their ground game but they hurt us on some passes and penalities also set us back.

"We play Northern Arizona this week. They are an excellent team and are much improved from last year. We can beat them, however, if we can get a few more big plays together and cut down on our mistakes. Right now, at 0-3, we have nowhere to go but up."

MAL EATON, MSAC: "Our defense came up with our its best game of the year vs. Harbor. They kept us in the game since our offense did not play well.

"We had a fine game from kicker John Cowper, who had never kicked for us before, and also from our line of Bob Epps, Mateo Laulo and Marc Mitchell.

"This Saturday we play San Diego Mesa. They have one of the best passers in college ball in Steve Fairchild. They beat our common opponent, Harbor, 51-0 as compared to our 24-7 so we will need our very best effort of the year on both offense and defense to beat them."

JERRY SCONCE, Azusa Pacific: "Whittier was a very physical team, we were fortunate to do enough things right to get a couple touchdowns and beat them.

"I think that Ort is being a little hard on his kids. They have two of the most powerful running backs around in Frick and Ben Morrow and are a real good team with size and speed. I hated to see them gain momentum against Pomona-Pitzer."

JOHN STRYCULA, Citrus: "We were fortunate to win at Rio Hondo despite a lot of problems and mistakes. We are still not consistent. I thought we would be better than we are at this point. We are going to have to improve to be a factor in our conference.

"We have played pretty good defense but our offensive line has been a big disappointment. Oddly enough, it's been our experienced people who have hurt us.

"We have San Diego City at home this week. They are a big, strong team which hasn't played very well as a team to this point but they're capable of putting it together and beating anyone on a given night. We won't take them lightly."

JOHN ZINDA, Claremont-Mudd: "We played Cal Lutheran, and they are the best team in our district in my opinion. Their second string was every bit as good as their first string.

"We were happy to limit them to only two touchdowns on offense. Our defense played well despite the score.

"We play USIU this week. They are big and strong but are winless right now and seem to be playing more as individuals than as a team. They beat us last year, however, so we aren't about to look past them."

MIKE MERANDI, Chaffey: "We play Palomar this week in our conference opener after having a bye last week. Palomar is a bonefide title contender in our conference. They are a predominantly sophomore team with a very strong defense. Their only loss was to a good Santa Monica team by a 10-0 score, and both those scores were set up on turnovers.

"They will be the best team we have faced by far. It should be a heck of a game. I think our conference is wide open. Nobody can be counted out at this point."

Sports briefs

Hawks awarded compensation

NEW YORK — The Atlanta Hawks were awarded forward Ron Behagen and $175,000 from New Orleans by National Basketball Association Commissioner Lawrence O'Brien as compensation for Leonard "Truck" Robinson, who played out his option and signed with the Jazz.

O'Brien's decision came after two months of deliberation. O'Brien assumed jurisdiction in the case after the two teams failed to reach an agreement on compensation.

The Jazz also lost forward E.C. Coleman, also a free agent, who signed with Golden State.

Vets' committee boosted

NEW YORK — Baseball's Hall of Fame will remain open to players from the old Negro leagues and also will consider for enshrinement outstanding major league players who were not able to complete the 10-year eligibility requirement because of illness or death.

The Hall of Fame's Board of Directors added six members to the Veteran's Committee and authorized that committee to elect up to two candidates per year to the Hall of Fame.

Davis Cup bans Nastase

LONDON — Ilie Nastase of Romania was banned from 1978 Davis Cup competition because of his behavior on the court. The decision was announced by the Davis Cup Committee based on a report by Spanish referee Jaime Bartroli following the Romania-Britain match in Bucharest last June.

Turnbull wins opener

ATLANTA — Australian Wendy Turnbull, the runnerup in the U.S. Open at Forest Hills last month, scored a 6-1, 6-2 victory over Ruta Gerulaitis of New York in the opening round of the $75,000 Atlanta Women's Tennis Classic.

Cager collapses, dies

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A freshman forward with the University of Texas-El Paso basketball team collapsed and died Monday afternoon while playing basketball with some friends.

UTEP officials said Anthony Johnson, 17, from Houston, was rushed to a nearby hospital but died a short time later. An autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of death.

Indians hire Moeller

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians said Monday they have signed former Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher Joe Moeller as bullpen coach and will retain the rest of their 1977 coaching crew.

Returning next season will be third-base coach Joe Nossek, first-base coach Rocky Colavito and pitching coach Harvey Haddix.

"We feel this year's coaches have done a good job for us and will continue to do a topflight job for the Indians," said Cleveland General Manager Phil Seghi. "They are a hard working and knowledgeable crew."

Moeller ended his eight-year major league career in 1971 and has spent the past two seasons as baseball coach at El Camino Junior College in Manhattan Beach, Calif.

Rangers held to 1-1 tie

The Foothills United Rangers played to a disappointing 1-1 tie with the Peninsula Soccer Club recently.

The Rangers, coming off a 7-0 loss to a strong Torrance United team, totally outplayed Peninsula but were unable to score more than once. Aaron Prisock scored the lone Rangers goal on an assist from Kevin Johnson.

The Rangers will continue soccer action this Saturday when they will host the South Bay Gunners at 11 a.m. at Simons Junior High in Pomona.

The Rangers still have some openings on their roster. Call Al Noseworthy at 628-4132 for further information.

Market activity

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks, aided by a brightening economic picture, turned mixed early Tuesday amid rising investor concerns that interest rates would rise soon. Trading was active.

The Commerce Department encouraged investors by reporting late Monday rises in factory orders, nondefense durable goods orders and factory shipments during August. The government last week reported a surge in its economic indicators.

But investors continued to show concern over published reports that despite the Federal Reserve Board's recent report of a decline in the nation's money supply, the supply has grown at a rate far above the board's goals. The Fed may have to tighten credit further to stem the rise.

Against this background, the Dow Jones industrial average was off 1.30 points to 850.66 shortly before noon EDT. Advances outnumbered declines, 656 to 417, among the 1,590 issues crossing the tape.

New York Stock Exchange volume at the two-hour mark amounted to about 9,000,000 shares shares, compared with 8,050,000 traded during the comparable period Monday.

PepsiCo was the most active NYSE issue, up ⅜ to 26. The company Monday reported third-quarter earnings rose to 68 cents a share from 57 cents a year ago.

Zenith Radio, which recently announced layoffs of a quarter of its color television work force, was the second most active NYSE issue, off ⅜ to 13⅞. The firm said it would proceed with previously announced sales allowances scheduled to begin soon, but at a smaller scale than originally planned.

American Telephone & Telegraph was the third most active issue, off ⅜ to 62⅞. Published reports said a recent federal appeals ruling raises some uncertainties about the future of AT&T's long-distance lines operations.

Savin Business Machines, which predicted second-quarter earnings would more than double those of a year ago, was ahead 1¼ and Nashua Corp. was up 1⅜. Stocks of both firms have taken a beating lately because of uncertainty about their continued working relations with Ricoh, a Japanese copier manufacturer.

Energy and related issues showed strength as the Senate, having broken a lengthy filibuster, prepared to vote on energy proposals. J. Ray McDermott was ahead 1⅜, United Energy 1⅛, Union Oil of California 1, Kerr McGee and Foxboro ⅞ apiece, General American Oil and Shell Oil ¾ each, and United Nuclear ⅝.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading of American Stock Exchange issues.

Solar powered building

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A futuristic office building, designed to save energy with a 25,000-square-foot solar collector, Wednesday won a major architectural contest here.

By putting half of the 250,000-square-foot complex underground, the Los Angeles design firm of Benham Blair & Affiliates of California gained space for a small park opposite the above-ground portion of the building.

Over-the-counter stock prices

Los Angeles (UPI) Over-the-counter quotations supplied by the National Association of Securities Dealers, are bids and offers quoted by over-the-counter dealers to each other; the quotations do not include retail markup, mark down or commission; and do not represent actual transactions.

Coffee keeps food cost up

By The Associated Press

Consumers hunting for grocery bargains found scattered price decreases last month, but the declines failed to offset earlier boosts — particularly for coffee, an Associated Press market-basket survey shows.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and non-food items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

Among the highlights of the latest survey:

—The marketbasket total at the checklist store declined during September in 10 cities and was up in three. The average drop was 1.9 per cent and the average increase was 2.9 per cent. On an overall basis, the marketbasket bill at the checklist stores was eight-tenths of a per cent lower at the start of October than it was at the start of the preceding month.

—The marketbasket total has increased steadily since the start of the year, up an average of 8.2 per cent in nine months at checklist stores. Coffee is to blame for much of the increase. When coffee was removed from the totals, the AP survey showed a 1.5 per cent increase in the marketbasket bill in the first three-quarters of 1976.

—Savings varied from city to city. The items most frequently decreasing in price last month were pork chops, down at the checklist store in seven cities; coffee, down in six cities; eggs, also down in six cities; and frankfurters, dropped in five cities.

—On the gloomy side, orange juice prices continued to rise. The price of frozen orange juice concentrate increased at the checklist store in eight cities. The higher prices are due to last January's freeze in Florida, which struck hard at oranges grown for juice, sharply reducing their yield.

Prices for orange juice futures — contracts involving delivery at a later date — shot up even before the damage was measured and the increases in the commodities markets started showing up at the retailers this summer.

Government experts have predicted a 6 per cent food rise this year, followed by a 3 to 6 per cent increase next year. They say the increases can be blamed on rising costs for things like advertising, labor and packaging rather than on higher prices paid to farmers.

In a recent speech to the Mid-America Dairymen in Des Moines, Iowa, Carol Tucker Foreman, assistant U.S. Department of Agriculture secretary for food and consumer services, said advertising alone accounted for 3 per cent of the nation's food bill last year, while packaging accounted for 13 per cent.

She said that while the cost of a one-pound loaf of white bread has gone from 33 to 35.6 cents in the past three years, the farm value of the wheat has actually decreased — from 6.4 cents to 2.4 cents.

A look at the overall number of items in the AP survey showed fewer increases during September than during August. Here are the percentages of increases and decreases.

	Aug.	Sept.
Up	25.1	23.1
Down	22.1	21.0
Unchanged	51.8	54.9
Unavailable	1.0	1.0

No attempt was made to weight the AP survey results according to population density or in terms of what percentage of a family's actual grocery outlay each item represents.

The day of the week on which the check is made has varied depending on the month. Standard brands and sizes are used when available. If the requested size and brand was not available on March 1, 1973, a comparable substitute was selected. Items temporarily out of stock on one of the survey dates being compared are not included in the overall total.

The AP does not attempt to compare actual prices from city to city — to say, for example, that cookies cost more in one area than another. The only comparisons made were in terms of percentages of increase or decrease — saying a particular item went up 10 per cent in one city and 6 per cent in another.

The USDA marketbasket issued each month is based on a complex set of statistics. It includes 65 retail items of U.S. farm-produced foods in amounts that theoretically could supply a household of 3.2 persons for one year. The department, which draws on information from 1,500 supermarkets in compiling its report, says the figures do not correspond to actual family food spending and are used mainly to illustrate changes in costs.

Larger, quieter DC 9 is planned

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern California's aerospace industry could get a boost from an expected announcement by the McDonnell-Douglas Corp. that the company plans to build a larger but quieter DC9 twin-engine jetliner.

The DC9 Super 80 — designed to carry more passengers than previous counterparts, but with less fuel and noise — has already been purchased by Swissair.

Austrian Airlines and Finnair are also interested in the jets, which would be built for $11 to $12 million at the Douglas Aircraft facility in Long Beach, the newspaper said. Inflation probably would hike that price by 1980, when the first planes are expected to be delivered.

John Simon, an aerospace analyst, has predicted that the new jet would contribute about $950 million to McDonnell-Douglas' revenues from 1980 to 1982, with profits of about $200 million over the same period.

The company reportedly expects to invest $125 million in the craft, far less than the cost of designing and building a totally new jet.

Pratt and Whitney, makers of the DC9 engines, have designed a new fan, lengthened the fuselage, and increased the wing and carrying capacity of the new jets.

Compared to the largest DC9 currently available, the Super 80 would carry 21 more passengers, have a 15-foot longer fuselage and a 20 per cent larger wing area.

The Vikings were daring seafaring people who lived in the north of Europe a thousand years ago. They were a Nordic people, the ancestors of the Norwegians, Swedes, and Danes of today.

The term "Viking" may have come from the old Norse word "vik," meaning bay. Along the rugged coast of the Viking's homeland there were many narrow bays, or fiords. "Norsemen" and "Northmen" are other names for the Vikings.

For more than 250 years, the Vikings sailed the seas in their swift ships, exploring and raiding other lands.

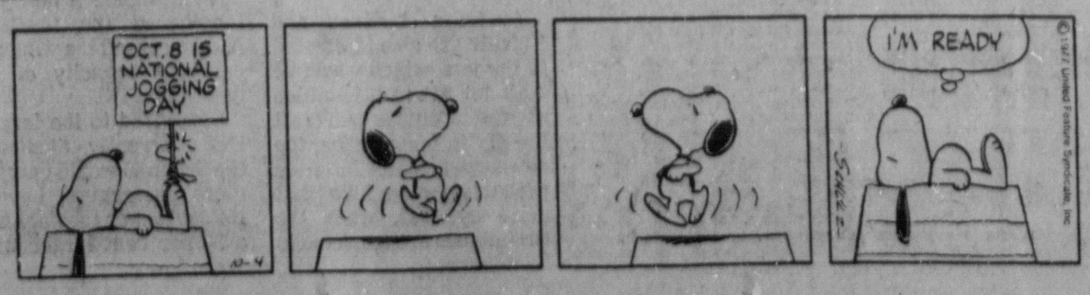

The high prow of a Viking ship was often carved into a dragon, and along the sides the Vikings hung their shields.

One of the best-known Viking explorers was Leif Ericson. He and his adventurous men reached North America long before Columbus made his famous voyage.

As the Vikings became more civilized, they settled down and became peaceful farmers and fishermen.

PEANUTS

GET THE POINT? — Miles (Kenneth Parker) proceeds in his plot to terrify Miss Giddens (Lupe Laidlaw-Dow) in the Actors Reperatory Theater production of "The Innocents." The run of the drama at the Claremont Playhouse has been extended, and final performances will be offered at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

Entertainment

Piano classes slated

The Southern California Junior Bach Festival will offer six workshops for piano teachers and other interested persons starting at 9:30 a.m. Friday at Ralph Pierce Music, 822 N. Garey Ave., Pomona.

Conducted by Andrew Clemmons of Los Angeles, the Friday morning sessions will deal with style, tempo, phrasing, articulation, dynamics, pedaling and ornamentation in performing the keyboard works of J. S. Bach.

Information on the workshops can be obtained from Yvonne Gordon at 624-7344.

Tryouts set for musical

The San Bernardino Civic Light Opera will hold auditions for principal roles, singers and dancers for "The Pajama Game" at 7:15 p.m. Friday at the Municipal Auditorium, Sixth and E streets, San Bernardino.

Individual appointments must be made by phoning the Civic Light Opera (714) 882-2545. Those auditioning must have their music with them. An accompanist will be available. Dance tryouts start at 7:15 p.m.

Soupy Sales, television and stage comedy star, is cast as Hines, the "hurry up" time study expert in a pajama factory with labor and management problems. Hits from the Broadway musical include the title song, "Hey There," "Hernando's Hideaway," "Steam Heat" and others.

"The Pajama Game" will open Nov. 11 in the California Theater of Performing Arts, San Bernardino.

Quintet offers concert

The Anthony Hill Quintet will present a free concert at the Triforium on the Los Angeles City Hall Mall at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday.

The group is made up of Bobby Harris, tenor saxophone; Labert Ellis, organ; Vernon Primmer, lead guitar; Elwood Shirely, trumpet, and Anthony Hill, drums.

Bill Vestal is program director at the Triforium. The concerts are sponsored by the Bureau of Music, a division of the Muncipal Arts Department of the city.

'The Country Wife'

Pomona College to stage classic Restoration Comedy

Pomona College Theater will present William Wycherley's Classic Restoration comedy, "The Country Wife," in Holmes Hall at 8 p.m. Oct. 20-23 and 27-30.

Theater department chairman Patricia Madsen directs the season opener, which premiered in London in 1675. It ridicules the sexual hypocrisy, would-be wits and witless fools of the day. It also recreates the elegance, the brillance and the wit which made the Restoration famous.

The play is filled with the vitality and bawdiness of the period. An irate Jeremy Collier wrote of it in 1738, "Such licentious discourse tends to no point but to strain the imagination, to awaken folly and to weaken the defenses of virtue."

The raked stage and period wing and shutter set are designed by David Flaten. Sherry George is credited with the lavish 17th Century costumes.

There are matinees at 2 p.m. Oct. 23 and 30. General admission is $2.50 for adults, $2 for faculty and staff of the Claremont Colleges and $1.50 for students, senior citizens and children. Information and reservations are available by calling the Pomona College Theater box office at 621-1613 or 626-8511, ext. 3181.

Calico Days at Ghost Town

The tenth annual Calico Days Celebration will be held at Calico Ghost Town, 10 miles north of Barstow, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The festivities will start with the Gospel/Bluegrass Hoedown at 8 p.m. Friday featuring The Californians and Goldrush. Saturday's program includes music, entertainment, games and a parade. Visitors can enter an egg-tossing contest or a stilt race. Top bluegrass bands will take part in the Moonshine Jamboree starting at 7 p.m., and at 9 p.m. The Brown Brothers will play for a country western dance on Main Street. A new feature this year is a series of horror movies starting at 9 p.m.

The Old Prospectors Burro Run will start at 11 a.m. Sunday, and at 3 p.m. the Gunfight Skit Competition will be held.

Calico Ghost Town is owned and operated by the San Bernardino County Regional Parks Department. Admission to the town is free. Parking is $1.

Further information on the park and the celebration can be obtained at (714) 383-1912.

BEDWETTERS?
LET THEM HAVE A DRY BED!
The greatest gift you can give a bedwetter and the rest of the family, too, is an end to this serious problem, and make no mistake, bedwetting is serious. It can cause complicated psychological problems that last a lifetime. It's so needless because bedwetting when not caused by organic defect or disease, can be ended. Cancer: panic vs. progress

(Second in a series)
By GORDON F. SCHWARTZ, M.D.

PHILADELPHIA (NEA) — Despite tremendous advances in medical science in the past generation, cancer remains one of the most dreaded, but not always the most dangerous, afflictions of mankind.

This fear persists, in part, because of a widely held "folk belief" that once the diagnosis of cancer has been made, nothing can be done and only doom awaits the affected person.

It is especially tragic that many women remain convinced that cancer is incurable, for early diagnosis has led to more frequent cures from cancer of the breast, cervix, and other organs. Unfortunately, part of our failure to reduce death rates from cancer even further has been the difficulty in getting women to play a more active role in their own health affairs.

The first step in the fight against cancer is frank, intelligent discussion of malignant disease. The cardinal rule is: "Early detection means higher likelihood of cure."

Using breast cancer as the example, involving women in their own health care by teaching them breast self-examination is an important advance. Brochures are available from groups such as the American Cancer Society which teach women this technique, and no breast examination by a physician is complete without mention of self-examination.

There is no doubt that a woman who examines herself at monthly intervals is the most concerned, and often the most skillful, examiner she can have. After a short period of practice, a woman becomes quite familiar with the physical characteristics of her own breasts, and she is often able to detect subtle changes which may be not as noticeable to her physician.

Although one in fifteen women will develop breast cancer, this risk is not distributed equally throughout the population. It is essential that women become aware of factors in their own medical history, or in their family background, which might place them in a higher risk category.

For example, history of breast cancer in a mother or sister, may more than double the risk. Also, if a woman has had certain benign breast conditions, the risk of developing breast cancer later may increase.

Every woman should consult with her own physician about the important facts in her own situation. In this way the proper interval for breast examination can be determined in order to insure the earliest possible detection and the best possible medical care should the need arise.

Overzealous, if well intentioned, journalists are also responsible for many misconceptions about cancer. The recent headlines devoted to discussions of the theoretical risks of the X-ray detection technique, mammography, are an example.

Instead of noting the achievements of mammography in aiding the earlier detection of breast cancer, considerable notoriety was given to the alleged evil effects of radiation exposure. Unfavorable and undeserved publicity such as this has led many women to avoid mammography despite specific and prudent indications for its use.

There are, to be sure, many honest and sincere controversies which surround the treatment of breast cancer, as well as other illnesses, with knowledgeable physicians championing apparently opposite forms of treatment.

The prospect of mastectomy, the loss of a breast, also keeps some women from seeking attention despite a known lump in the breast. Women should realize that there are forms of breast cancer which require much less drastic and radical procedures than have been the custom in the past, particularly in those cases which have been detected in their earliest stages.

Early detection, is only the first half of the battle against cancer. Of equal importance is prompt and adequate treatment once cancer has been suspected or diagnosed.

In recent years, women have become more active in sharing medical decisions with their physicians. The average patient may not be medically sophisticated enough to make these important therapeutic decisions without expert advice. Yet, all too often, physicians forget that the patient herself must make the final decision, since only she may give the doctor the final go-ahead for a treatment plan or sign the operative permit if surgery is indicated.

More and more patients are seeking a "second opinion" regarding proposed treatment. No physician truly worthy of a patient's trust honestly objects to a patient seeking the opinion of another specialist to confirm his own.

Although death and disability from cancer continue to be major health problems, there need not be the sense of helplessness and resignation attached to this diagnosis that formerly had been so frequent. Knowledgeable women, taking responsibility for their own health care, working closely with their physicians, are the best defense against this dreaded disease.

Cranston seeks to explain positions on voting issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alan Cranston is worried that some Californians think they're being shortchanged in the Senate because their two senators often vote on opposite sides of issues.

The Constitution guarantees Californians two senators. It says nothing about whether they agree with each other. There's no question that Cranston, a liberal Democrat, and S. I. Hayakawa, a conservative Republicans, often disagree.

"I keep hearing we cancel each other out," said Cranston. The phrase "cancel each other out," bothers him because it implies that California ends up without a say on many issues.

Now, Cranston has come up with some statistics.

So far this year, he and Hayakawa have both been recorded on 306 roll calls. On 168 of those votes, 55 per cent, they disagreed. On the the other 45 per cent they voted alike.

Cranston also noted that when they disagreed, he was on the winning side 71 per cent of the time.

"I'd just like to make the point, we don't cancel each other out," said Cranston. "one or the other view prevails."

Cranston also noted that he and Hayakawa have been on the same side, more often than he thought they would.

Does this mean Cranston is becoming more conservative?

"Maybe, Senator Hayakawa is getting more liberal," he said. "I don't know."

Only the bad guys filibuster.

According to the dictionary, a filibuster is the tactic of using long speeches and introducing irrelevant issues as a means of obstructing legislative action.

For that reason, when a filibuster is imminent, senators begin talking about the possibility of "extended debate."

The start of the debate on the natural gas bill was one of those rare occasions when a couple of senators ignored the usual euphemisms and called a filibuster a filibuster.

Said Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska: "I do have the slight perception of the aroma of a filibuster, not that that is a bad aroma, but it is something that is coming into my senses. I hope I am wrong."

Responded Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark.: "I have detected since I have been in the Senate the last 2½ years that filibusters only have an odor if you happen to be on the other side. And they smell quite differently to one who happens to be opposed to a measure that is about to go through."

It can't be too much longer before every member of the House of Representatives will also be a member of one or more special interest "caucuses."

There's the Black Caucus, the Women's Caucus and the Hispanic Caucus. Also the Rural Caucus and the Blue Collar Caucus.

The latest is the Steel Caucus composed of House members whose districts have ties to the steel industry.

Seventy members of Congress showed up at the first meeting of the Steel Caucus and elected Rep. Charle Carney, D-Ohio, chairman.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., decided he had a great idea for saving energy and reducing air pollution: take away the free parking now enjoyed by members of Congress and many federal employees.

The result would be to encourage car pooling and use of mass transit. It also would cut down on traffic congestion and air pollution.

"Energy efficiency begins at home," said Percy. "The place to spearhead the national energy conservation effort is right here in Washington."

Carter's canal aides handcuffed, but still confident of winning

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's aides, buffeted in a million-dollar fight against the new Panama Canal treaty, say they can't swing back with the kind of punches their opponents are throwing.

But they are confident they can save the treaty from a beating.

"We can't buy media advertising out of the White House," muttered Landon Butler, a deputy presidential assistant. "You can't do that as an agency of the government."

Joe Aragon, a special assistant to the president, said, "We want to make sure it doesn't look like we're carrying off some kind of a propaganda campaign."

That shoe, Aragon said, is on the other foot.

The two White House aides, both on top assistant Hamilton Jordan's task force to win Senate ratification of the treaty, spoke in a recent interview. What are they doing, they were asked, to counter the campaign, mostly by conservatives, against the treaty?

The opposition, both agreed, is formidable.

Conservative groups are bombarding key members of the Senate with mass media advertising aimed at constituents back home.

The conservative arsenal includes an avalanche of anti-treaty mail, a television documentary, "fact sheets" on the Panama Canal, protests against the treaty and "truth squads" of prominent treaty opponents traveling around the country to mobilize opinion against Senate ratification.

The biggest guns include former California Gov. Ronald Reagan and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., opposing the treaty at every opportunity, aided by groups like "Reagan's Rough Riders," proposed as "an expeditionary force of volunteers" to keep the canal under American control.

In all, the conservatives say their effort probably will cost more than $1 million.

Landon and Aragon say their counter effort centers on a series of briefings for "opinion leaders" in swing states sent to the White House by senators whose votes will be crucial to ratification of the treaty.

"We've probably run as many as 800 people through the State Dining Room for briefing sessions on the canal," Butler said. "These are people that basically the senators have said, 'These are the folks you should talk to in my state.' Republicans. Democrats. Opinion leaders of all persuasions.

"They'll go back and will have heard our side of the story in great detail so that it won't be that fertile a ground for the opposition out there. You'll have people who'll be saying, 'Look, I know what that's about — that's not the whole truth.'"

Butler lists these treaty opponents and neutrals among the senators who have invited political, civic and business leaders from their states, at the participants' own cost, to hear the White House briefings:

Goldwater; Sam Nunn, D-Ga.; Richard Stone, D-Fla.; Lawton Chiles, D-Fla.; Howard Baker, R-Tenn., the minority leader and one of the senators Carter would like most to persuade; James R. Sasser, D-Tenn., Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va.; Wendell H. Ford, D-Ky.; and Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., the majority leader and another of the senators Carter would like most to persuade.

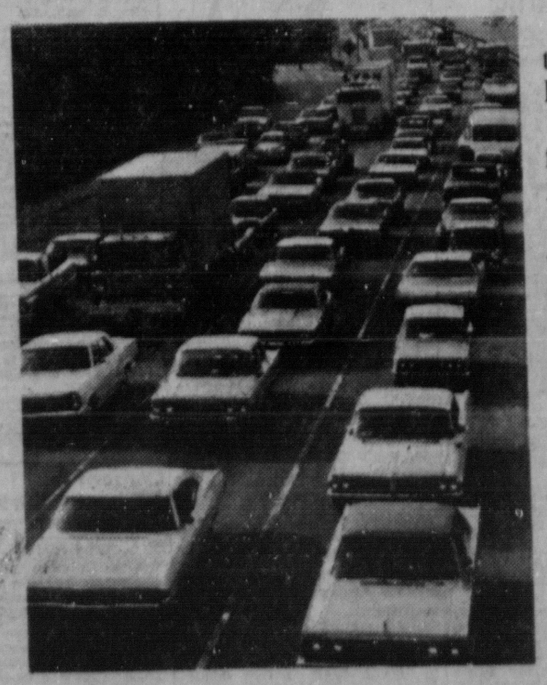

In addition to the briefings, which are the centerpiece of the administration's effort to "educate" the public, Butler and Aragon are collecting treaty endorsements from a host of people:

George Meany, John Wayne, Alf Landon, William Buckley, Henry Kissinger, Dean Rusk, Gerald Ford, and more than two dozen one-time U.S. ambassadors to Latin America.

Some of the endorsements, like Meany's, were sought. Others, like Buckley's and Wayne's, came in over the transom — although it is possible Wayne might have been persuaded by Brig. Gen. Omar Torrijos, Panamanian leader and the actor's fishing buddy, to offer his support.

Some ideas for an older child

By ROBERT COCHNAR and JUDITH HINES

One of the reasons a teen-ager often gives for not reading the local paper is that "there's nothing in it that interests me." Although this may be another way of saying "nothing interests me." the fact is that more and more newspaper editors want very much to cover activities of particular interest to young readers. Encourage your children to let the editor know what they think (and, at the same time, you can let the editor know what you think).

Here are some other ideas for the older child:

Use that special interest. Start with your child where he is, and the newspaper will accommodate you both. He likes television a lot? Point him toward the TV section to make selections for each day's viewing. Encourage him to find a show the whole family would enjoy watching. Ask him to read the previews to you — or a review of the special you watched together last night. See if your youngster agrees — or disagrees — with the reviewer, and ask him why.

Movies? Records? Football? Camping? Motorcycle racing? Unless you're so turned off by his favorite form of entertainment that sharing it would be faking it, the newspaper will give you much to talk about and plan ahead for.

Playing the stock market. Buy your child a single share of several different stocks. Let him know their original worth and then follow their ups and downs through the daily stock market quotations. He can keep a wall chart on their fluctuations. Of course, if available funds don't allow actual purchase, create an imaginary portfolio. The child can trade stocks much more freely with make-believe purchases.

News from "foreign lands". Are you planning a family trip? Order mailed copies of one week's editions of newspapers from the town(s) to be visited. Let your children examine these papers to choose things they want to do and see. Ask them to follow the weather forecasts so you'll know what kind of clothes to bring. Ask them to tell you what the newspaper tells them about the kind of people you'll meet there, what they care about, and what the land they live on looks like. Generally, newspapers tell a stranger a lot more about the community and its attractions than do the brochures from the area chamber of commerce.

In the marketplace. Does your child know that the tiny print in the classified ad section that looks so dull and intimidating may really be all about her life? The after-school job she needs may be advertised there — or she might advertise her own services as a babysitter or a yard-keeper. Does she want a bike or a stereo set, but can't afford a new one? If she's patient, a used bike or hi-fi rig will eventually turn up under the "items" or "miscellaneous" for sale section. And perhaps she'll earn some of the money to pay for it by advertising and selling the bike she has outgrown.

Where to find the good stuff. Isn't it about time you did what you've been thinking about for some time — give your child his own clothing allowance and responsibility for clothing himself? Nowhere but in the newspaper will he find the array of seasonal and sale advertisements that can help him stay within budget and still look sharp (according to his own taste, of course, which may not necessarily be yours). Ten years old isn't too early for the child to start. And if your child likes to help you shop for the family food, ask him to check the Wednesday or Thursday food pages for you for special bargains and coupons and to compare prices among the various markets. He may well be able to save the family money.

NBC to pay $100 million for Olympics broadcasting rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of NBC television told Congress today the network will pay more than $100 million to broadcast the 1980 Summer Olympic Games in Moscow, at least $15 million more than previously indicated.

"NBC does not take this figure lightly," Robert E. Mulholland said in remarks prepared for a House communications subcommittee, adding that the company expects "to make a reasonable profit on the Olympics."

But he did not say how much profit the National Broadcasting Co. is projecting.

Mulholland testified as the committee, under the chairmanship of Rep. Lional Van Deerlin, D-Calif., opened its investigation into the relationship between the television networks and sports.

Mulholland told the committee that the Soviet Union placed no restrictions on the coverage.

"We have made no concessions to journalistic integrity, nor will we make them," he said.

NBC agreed to pay $35 million for the television rights and $50 million for technical services to the Soviet broadcasting organization, Gosteleradio.

The German middleman, Lothar Bock, who worked with the network and the Soviets, is getting another $1 million for his services.

Mulholland said that in addition to the basic $85 million NBC is paying the Soviet Union, it will spend another $15 million or more on other costs, including the purchasing of equipment, hiring talent, satellite transmissions and transportation for its workers.

He said the network has agreed to spend an additional $2 million to hire interpreters, buy extra equipment at some of the Olympic sites to provide individual coverage of events, and for additional space.

Mulholland said that, while the production will be under NBC's control, "no one guarantees that the Soviets will not 'pull the plug' as some critics have suggested they will. Obviously, they have the physical ability to do so."

FUNNY BUSINESS By Roger Bollen

Madame Pele lives up to man's faith

KALAPANA, Hawaii (AP) — Walter Yamaguchi had so much faith in Madame Pele, Hawaii's volcano goddess, that he scoffed at official calls to evacuate and kept his store open through the weekend as a hot river of lava moved toward Kalapana.

"I was confident all along the lava flow wouldn't hit the village," said Yamaguchi after officials announced that evacuated residents could return today because the lava flowing from Kilauea Volcano was no threat after all.

"I have always respected Pele and have a lot of faith in her," said Yamaguchi, who runs a small store and drive-in restaurant in this tiny coastal community.

Scientists at the Hawaii Volcanoes National Park observatory said the flow would continue moving at a very slow pace for a few days, but would completely solidify before making any significant progress toward the coast. They said most of the lava along the nine-mile path had hardened.

The volcano has been erupting intermittently since Sept. 13. The latest phase began a week ago and County Civil Defense officials said late last week that the flow could not be prevented from hitting ocean-front homes and cascading into the sea.

But the forward movement was slowed as the lava filled a series of deep gulches just above the town.

Even though the residents cleared their homes of almost all possessions at midweek, many believed that Madame Pele would protect the homes.

"We haven't hurt Pele, and she won't hurt us," said Eugene Dudoit, a Kalapana resident, while waiting at an evacuation center.

Carter to ask funds for PBS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is preparing to ask Congress for more than $1 billion over five years as part of a program to strengthen public broadcasting, an administration official says.

"The White House is in the final stages of consultation with key members of Congress and with others directly concerned with public television," said the official, who asked not to be identified.

The money request, the largest proposed contribution to public broadcasting ever by the federal government, is part of a package that reportedly will go to Capitol Hill this week.

Other parts of the package are intended to give noncommercial stations more protection from governmental interference and greater ability to produce national programming.

The package is a follow-up to Carter's campaign promise to improve public broadcasting.

Carter's program reportedly would strengthen the programming role of the Public Broadcasting Service, which distributes shows to local stations, and would be designed to reduce internal feuding.

The New York Times said Sunday that the $1 billion authorization would take effect in 1981. One-fourth of the total, or about $50 million a year, would be allocated for the production of national programming, giving U.S. public broadcasters the ability to create shows comparable to those of the British Broadcasting Corp., the newspaper said.

Burglary sentence of husband reversed

MIAMI (AP) — An appeal court has reversed the burglary sentence of a man convicted for breaking into the apartment of his estranged wife, saying the man "had a legal right to be with his wife."

Francisco Vasquez had been sentenced to concurrent one-year terms for battery and burglary after he broke down the door of the apartment and beat Emma Vasquez.

"Ordinarily this would constitute a burglary if the parties had been unmarried," said Judges Thomas Barkdull and Phil Hubbart in a ruling for the Third District Court of Appeal. "But the parties were married and ... the defendant had a legal right to be on the premises with his wife."

Judge Robert Haverfield dissented on the ruling, saying it was undisputed that Vasquez left the apartment more than a year before the incident.

He said Vasquez "no longer had legal right to be there because he had long ago abandoned both his wife and the apartment."

All three judges upheld the battery conviction, agreeing that Vasquez broke the law when he hit his wife.

New Mexico

What is now the state of New Mexico was explored in 1539 by a gold-seeking Spaniard, Franciscan Marcos de Niza, and his black slave, Estevan. The first settlement was at San Juan Pueblo in 1598. Santa Fe, now the second oldest city in the United States, was founded in 1610. The city was captured by Gen. Stephen Kearney in the Mexican War and the area was acquired by the United States in the peace settlement.
